PACKED IN A TRUNK WITH HEAD SEVERED FROM BODY

Hebrew Jewelry Seller Robbed of His Goods and Foully Murdered.

THE BODY IS EASILY IDENTIFIED BY WOMAN

Trunk Was Deposited at a Pier in One of the Busiest Thoroughfares of New York City, and Was Spattered with Blood.

New York, January 16.—The body of a man with his throat cut from ear to ear, and showing other marks of violence, was found in a trunk on a pile of skids at the bulkhead of pier 11, East river, today. It was identified by a woman as the body of Michael Weissberger, or Weissberg, an east side Hebrew, who was employed by a jewelry firm to sell jewelry on the installment plan. Captain Titus, head of the detective bureau, declared that the motive of the crime was robbery, and intimated that at least two men were concerned in the murder. The crime was discovered by Policeman Reilly, of the steamboat squad, whose attention was called to the trunk by some longshoremen working on the pier. A crowd collected about Patrolman Reilly when he opened the trunk. Lying on its side, and with knees doubled up, was the body of a man, the upper part completely drenched in blood, and terribly mutilated. After the body was identified, Captain Titus said:

"Everything of value was taken from the victim. I believe that the crime was committed in a house—presumably a tenement—and that the murderers knew that Weissberger carried jewelry about him. I have ascertained that he left the place where he was employed at 9 o'clock yesterday morning and was seen alive at noon. He had $200 worth of jewelry with him at the time—watches, small diamonds and other articles—which he carried in bags. He may also have had some money. He was a married man and had a large family.

HERTZ FORGED MANY CHECKS.

Will Be Arrested on His Arrival at Liverpool.

New York, January 16.—The police department announced this afternoon that the man to be arrested at Liverpool on a charge of embezzlement is Sigmund Hertz, who was employed as a confidential clerk by Stiefel, Sachs & Co., wholesale dry goods dealers. Hertz is accused of robbing his employers of a large sum of money by means of forged checks. He took passage on the steamer Corinthian under an assumed name on January 7th at Portland, Me. The checks, it is said, were principally passed on the Chemical National bank, where the firm kept its accounts. The amount stolen has been variously estimated at from $50,000 to $200,000, but Assistant District Attorney Gans said today that he hardly thought the amount would reach the first figures.

BIG FIRE AT MEMPHIS, TENN.

Department Store Destroyed—Loss $100,000.

Memphis, Tenn., January 16.—About 11 o'clock tonight fire was discovered in the department store of Edward Hunter & Company, one of the largest retail establishments in the city, located at the corner of Main and West Court streets, and despite the well directed efforts of the fire department, the entire building with its stock was destroyed. For a time the house occupied by J. Summerfield & Co., dry goods and millinry, was seriously threatened, but, after a hard fight, the firemen succeeded in confining the flames to the Hunter building. The loss cannot be learned tonight, but it is believed to exceed $100,000, fully covered by insurance.

NO REWARD FOR LYNCHERS.

Governor Stanley Says They Could Not Be Convicted.

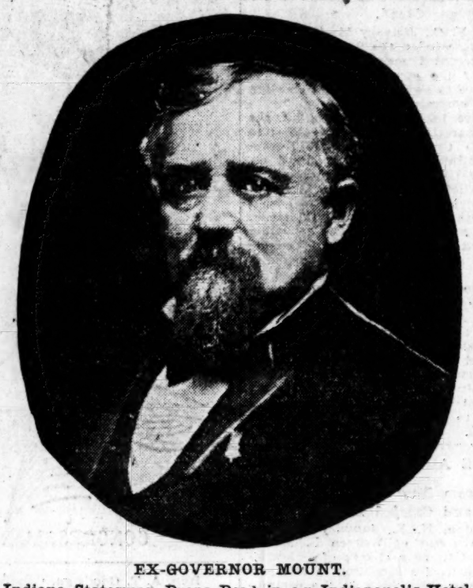

Topeka, Kas., January 16.—Governor Stanley decided tonight that he will not offer a reward for the arrest of the perpetrators of yesterday's negro burning in Leavenworth. He said:

"If the guilty persons were arrested they would have the first trial in Leavenworth county, and the present public sentiment there would make it useless to attempt a prosecution."

Smallpox at Knoxville.

Knoxville, Tenn., January 16.—(Special.) Eleven cases of smallpox were located here today. All exposed parties are under quarantine.

MOUNT, OF INDIANA, DIES SUDDENLY OF HEART FAILURE

EX-GOVERNOR MOUNT.
Indiana Statesman Drops Dead in an Indianapolis Hotel.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., January 16.—James A. Mount, who retired Monday at noon from the office of governor of the state of Indiana, died suddenly at 6:45 o'clock tonight in his apartments at the Denison hotel. He had attended a reception tendered by Mrs. Mount to a number of prominent ladies of the city during the afternoon and shortly after the guests departed he started out for a walk.

Upon his return he said nothing about being ill and, after removing his hat and overcoat, sat down to read. In a few minutes he turned to his wife and niece, who were in the room, and said:

"I am sick; it's my heart. Send for a doctor at once."

Dr. O. S. Runnells was called and found those in attendance at Mr. Mount's bedside chafing his feet and hands in an effort to revive him. He knelt down and listened for a heart beat and, rising on his feet, said:

"You can do nothing more for him—he is dead."

During the forenoon Mr. Mount visited the office of his former private secretary and was in consultation with him for several hours. In the afternoon he made a speech before the Indiana State Wool Growers' Association, and was elected president of the association. Part of the time he spent in assisting in the entertainment of his wife's guests. Three children beside Mrs. Mount are the surviving members of the family.

During his term of office Governor Mount was attacked several times by fainting spells, but none of them were serious. Colonel Wilson, who was in the office with him during his term of office, said tonight:

"Governor Mount was worked to death. His close application to the duties of his office impaired his health, and until some of the burden is removed from the shoulders of the governors of Indiana the exactions of the office will kill anybody."

Governor Mount will be well remembered in Atlanta. It was only last July at the reunion of the blue and the gray that he visited the city, and the impression he made upon everyone with whom he came in contact will cause his death to be deeply regretted by Atlanta's citizens.

No one knew Governor Mount better than did Colonel W. A. Hemphill. Colonel Hemphill first met him in November, 1899, at a blue and gray reunion at Evansville. He recalled the incident of Governor Mount's having carried the captured Texas battleflag back to the veterans of that state, and clasping his hand said:

"I am glad to shake the hand of a man who had the courage to take that flag back to Texas."

That was the beginning of a strong friendship between Governor Mount and Colonel Hemphill, and when the latter headed the committee that went to invite the governor to attend the blue and gray reunion held in Atlanta last July, the governor went in person to the train to meet them, took them to the capitol and treat-

DETECTIVE LOONEY GOES TO CHAINGANG

The Sealed Verdict Which Was Opened Yesterday Held No Surprise.

BLANKENSHIP GETS OFF WITH ONLY A FINE

In Sentencing Looney to Six Months' Service, Judge Stated That Detective Had Influenced Blankenship To Commit Theft.

THE jury in the case of Private Detective David S. Looney, charged with larceny, yesterday returned a sealed verdict, finding the defendant guilty. After the verdict had been read, Judge John S. Candler sentenced the detective to serve six months in the county chaingang. The attorney for Looney made a motion for a new trial.

George Sims, the Marietta street merchant, who went on Looney's bond when he was arrested, yesterday morning surrendered the defendant and after sentence was pronounced, the detective was placed in the Tower.

It is probable that Looney will make an effort to secure his release on bond, pending the hearing of the motion for a new trial. There are five indictments against him and the total bond for all of these, before his trial was $1500. Since his conviction, however, on one of the bills, he will have to make a $2,000 bond in that case. The bond for the other four cases will remain $300, the same as before the trial.

The jury in the case went out Tuesday afternoon about 3 o'clock and Judge Candler directed the jurymen to return a sealed verdict. The jury reached a conclusion Tuesday afternoon and the verdict was ready for the court yesterday.

The case against Looney has attracted much attention and the reading of the verdict was listened to with close attention by the crowd in the courtroom. The envelope was torn open at the direction of Judge Candler and the verdict, which pronounced Looney guilty of larceny, was read.

Judge Candler then sentenced the defendant and in doing so, he stated that there was no doubt in his mind but that

DRIGGS USES ALL KINDS OF ADJECTIVES TO WITNESS

FACES IN PATERSON MURDER TRIAL.
Quartette Now on Trial for Their Lives and the Dead Girl.

PATERSON, N. J., January 16.—Counsel for the defense in the Jennie Bosschieter murder trial today practically closed their case. William A. Death, Walter L. McAlister and Andrew Campbell, the three men on trial for the murder, told their versions of the events of the night Jennie Bosschieter met her death while in their company. Their testimony varied but little as to details. The plea set up by counsel for the three defendants was a general and specific denial of all the accusations made against the men. He opened with an attack on the moral character of the dead girl and claimed that the prisoners were in no way responsible for the death of Jennie Bosschieter. He denied that she had been drugged, and he denied that she had been ill treated and assaulted.

McAlister, Death and Campbell were each on the stand. Their testimony was on the line that they were acting on a generous impulse when they took the girl out of the saloon to the back. They claimed that she was "jolly drunk" for a time in the back room of Saal's saloon; said she was joking and laughing after the first drink; that she became "dopy" after taking the absinthe and then became dead drunk. They had thought a drive in the fresh air would do her good and had taken her across the river out into the country. The assault was denied. They had lifted the girl out of the hack because she was sick and they had conducted themselves like humanitarians in their efforts to bring her back to her senses. They had taken her to the brook to obtain water. They would have taken her home after she was dead, but when they reached the neighborhood they saw persons about.

They were frightened at "the dead girl" and did not want to get mixed up in the scandal. They maintained that they had no evil intentions against the girl. The meeting in the saloon was unintentional so far as McAlister was concerned and he had drawn his friend, Kerr, into the case unwittingly. Campbell became mixed up in it because Death did not want to be seen on the street with the girl lest some one tell his wife. The hack, it would appear from the statements made by the prisoners, was not intended for the party at first, but for McAlister, Kerr and two young women whose names McAlister refused to divulge, on the ground that their names had not been mentioned before and he did not want to cause them any annoyance. The stop intended at Lee's was not connected with the girl they had with them, but because, although she had had enough to drink, the men had further capacity. The story as told by each was plausible, explanatory and reasonable, but conflicted with the testimony of the hackman and the alleged confessions of Death and Campbell as introduced by the state and admitted as evidence. The state, which was beaten yesterday in the effort to introduce the confession said to have been made by Campbell, succeeded in getting it all in, in even more detailed manner than would

STUDENTS MAKE PLAIN THE METHODS IN VOGUE

Congressional Committee Is Yet Delving Into the Booz Death and Events Surrounding the Tragic End of the Student.

West Point, N. Y., January 16.—When the congressional committee met at the military academy today, and before any witnesses were called, Congressman Wanger, of Pennsylvania, addressed the committeemen. He referred to the published reports of the hissing incident at the close of the afternoon session yesterday. Mr. Wanger said that in at least two newspapers army officers were charged with taking part in this hissing. He decided, however, to express his firm belief that no expression of disapprobation was made by any army officer present at the time. He was pleased to hear that Colonel Hine, acting superintendent of the academy, had instituted a thorough inquiry regarding the matter. Mr. Wanger said since the committee had been treated with the utmost courtesy by all officers, he would be sorry should any erroneous impression become prevalent throughout the country.

General Dick, and all the committeemen, concurred with the views of the Pennsylvania representative, and the matter was then dropped.

Cadet Bordrie O. Mahaffey, of Texas, who was a classmate of former Cadet Booz, was called and sworn.

Judge Smith examined the witness and after perusing Mahaffey's testimony he said that the evidence given by the witness this morning was in no way different from the military court's records.

The witness admitted that the purpose of calling out a forth class man was to have him whipped. He had never heard of a fourth class man winning in a fist fight with a high class man, but had known of two such fights that were called draws.

Cadet Dockery, of Missouri, asknowledged that he had exercised young MacArthur, who was with five or six other fourth class men.

"What was the reason for hazing MacArthur?"

"For not bracing hard enough," replied Dockery.

"You are satisfied you hazed Mr. MacArthur and that he was sick, in fact, had convulsions after it?" asked Mr. Driggs.

"Yes sir."

"Did you think it was cruel?"

"Yes sir."

"Well, young man, for your information I will tell you that I think it was atrocious, base, detestable, disgraceful, dishonorable, disreputable, heinous, ignominous, ill-famed, nefarious, odious, outrageous, scandalous, shameful, shameless, villainous and wicked," said Mr. Driggs, and the torrent of adjectives almost took away Dockery's breath.

Judge Smith got Dockery to admit that when he found that MacArthur was ill he felt anxious on account of his responsibility for the young fellow's condition.

"Instead of exercising this young man to such a degree, why did you not give him a chance to fight?" asked General Dick.

"He could have fought instead if he had chosen to do so."

"Can you think of anything more cruel than to exercise into convulsions?"

"No sir."

"Was there anything soldierly about it?"

"No sir."

General Dick then made the witness admit that he was worried and went to MacArthur's tent. It was dark and he could just see MacArthur lying still on his bed and fearing detection MacArthur was allowed to lie there without medical aid.

"Then you and the others who took part in the hazing of MacArthur were afraid to report his serious condition, fearing that by doing so the facts would become known to the authorities and you would be dismissed from the military academy?"

"Yes sir."

General Dick then switched to the methods of calling out fourth class men and class men. He warned the witness

THIRTY-SIXTH COMING BACK.

Regiment Will Sail from Manila on January 25th.

Manila, January 16.—The Philippine commission has passed acts giving, in domestic products, the Jolo archipelago free trade with all Philippine ports, and providing for the issuance of licenses to masters and mates of seagoing vessels.

The United States cable ship Burnside has finished the work of laying the cable connecting the island of Negros with northern Mindanao. Zamboanga and Jolo will soon be connected.

Mr. H. Phelps Whitmarsh, recently appointed governor of the province of Benguet, reports that several towns in the province have held elections and organized local governments.

The United States transport Buford arrived here from Vigan, on the northwest coast of the island of Luzon, this evening, with the Thirty-sixth regiment of infantry, United States volunteers. The soldiers will land tomorrow, camp on the Luneta and sail on the transport Pennsylvania for San Francisco January 25th. This regiment was the earliest organized of the present volunteers. Some of the men will join the new Manila police, under Provost Marshal General J. Franklin Bell, the original colonel of the Thirty-sixth regiment.

The United States transport Indiana will sail for San Francisco with sick soldiers on the return of the hospital ship Relief from Aparri.

ALVORD IN A STRIPED SUIT.

Defaulter Sentenced to Thirteen Years and Taken to Sing Sing.

New York, January 16.—Cornelius L. Alford, Jr., the defaulting note teller of the First National Bank, was to-day sentenced to thirteen years of imprisonment. The amount of his defalcation was $690,000. He was taken immediately to Sing Sing, where his pedigree was recorded

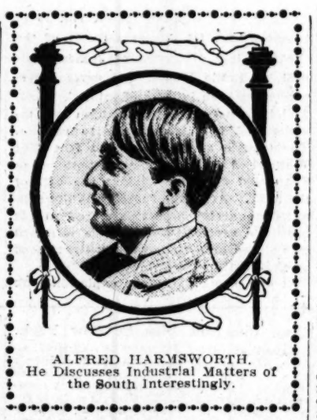

HARMSWORTH, ENGLISH EDITOR, MAY VISIT ATLANTA NEXT WEEK

By Edward Lowry.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., January 16.—(Special.)—Alfred Harmsworth, proprietor of The London Daily Mail, the young Englishman who has about revolutionized the newspaper business in Great Britain, arrived in St. Augustine late this afternoon. He will stop at the Ponce de Leon for the next ten days before going down to Puntagorda, where a yacht is waiting to take him on an extended tarpon fishing trip. It is possible that on his return east he will stop over in Atlanta to make a hasty examination into what is being done by the textile manufacturing industries there, with a view to ascertaining how dangerous the south may become in the future to the Manchester spinners.

Mr. Harmsworth has an avid thirst for information. I saw him this afternoon, shortly after his arrival, and interviewed him, or, rather, we interviewed each other, for I answered as many questions as I asked. Except for his pronunciation of the word "extraordinary," and his loose necked white flannel shirts, Harmsworth is more an American than he is an Englishman. In manners he is cordial, sincere and unaffected. He impresses one with the masterly range of his information and interests and his almost dynamic force. Near the heel of our conversation, he asked of Atlanta:

"You are sticking up mills about there,

ALFRED HARMSWORTH.
He Discusses Industrial Matters of the South Interestingly.

aren't you? Do they manufacture in large quantities in the south in the line of textile manufacturing? I am very much interested in what you are doing.

"So you think in time your southern mills will cut into the trade of our Manchester spinners? You will remember the same prophecy was made when mills were first established in India, but the latter never did come up to expectations. The Manchester spinners had last year the most prosperous export year they have ever had."

In response to a suggestion that he come to Atlanta on his way back to New York and see what the various mills were producing, he said:

"I should like to if it will not cause too wide a detour in my itinerary. I am deeply interested in your civil war and intend visiting Charleston and Richmond because of the historic interest attaching to the two cities. I hope I may find it possible to come to Atlanta. Is 'Uncle Remus' there? Is he to be seen? I should like to know him. We know him better in England than you do in this country, I think.

"Your paper, The Constitution, is better known in England, I believe, than any of the other southern papers."

Mr. Harmsworth spoke freely, always expressing his thoughts tersely on a wide range of other subjects.

"Your railroads in this country," he said, "have you by the throat, just as the English roads have us by the throat."

Of American newspaper men he said:

"They are an energetic lot, but they have no cohesiveness. They all seem pulling against each other. In England our fellows stick together, and where one man in an office is forced to leave because of some grievance the other men go out with him. I have known the thing to happen time and again."

Touching his recent experiment with a "tabloid" newspaper, he said that there was room for such a paper in great centers of population.

Mr. Harmsworth, before he terminated the interview, again referred to his keen interest in the progress the south was making in textile industries and its probable effect on the English spinners, and the probability of his coming to Atlanta.

REMOVE CONFEDERATE DEAD.

Mrs. Behan Calls on the Secretary of War.

Richmond, Va., January 16.—(Special.)—General W. H. Behan, of New Orleans, and his wife are here tonight on their way from Washington. Mrs. Behan is the president of the Confederate Southern Memorial Association. She has been to the national capital to confer with the secretary of war in regard to the removal of the confederate dead from the soldiers' home at the Arlington national cemetery.

SHYLOCK LEWIS'S BEQUESTS.

London, January 16.—Samuel Lewis, the money lender and usurer, who died Sunday left £4,000,000 all of which goes, under his will, to his widow with the exception of £200,000, which is divided among relatives.

In his will he expressed a desire that his widow should give in her own name £400,000 to provide dwellings for the poor of all creeds, £250,000 to the Prince of Wales hospital fund; £100,000 to the Jewish board of guardians of London, £200,000 to various hospitals.

SHE IS AGAINST CHILD LABOR.

English Woman Wants To Influence Legislation in Alabama.

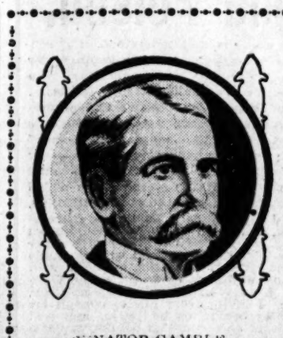

Montgomery, Ala., January 16.—(Special.)—Mrs. Irene M. Ashby, of London, England, is in Alabama looking around among the cotton mills. She has formulated two bills which she will urge upon the general assembly when it meets. One is to prohibit child labor, and the other provides compulsory education.

QUARTETTE OF SUCCESSFUL SENATORIAL CANDIDATES WHO WILL BE NEW TO THE SENATE.

...M. CARMACK,
Tennessee's New Representative in United States Senate.

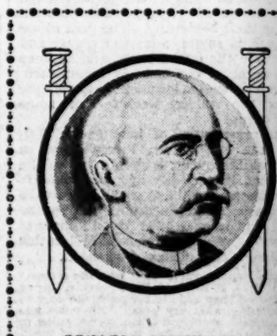

OF the candidates who have been already chosen for the United States senate, either in the legislatures of various states or in the caucuses, only four will be entirely new in the senate chamber. These are Henry E. Burnham, Joseph Ralph Burton, Robert J. Gamble and E. W. Carmack. Among these perhaps the most interesting is Mr. Burnham, who will replace Senator Chandler, of New Hampshire. The election which places Mr. Burnham in the seat so long occupied by Mr. Chandler was one of the most interesting in the history of New Hampshire. The new senator is a native of that state and is derived from an old New England family which came from England in 1635. He is a graduate of Dartmouth and is a prominent practicing attorney of Manchester. He has been more or less prominent in politics since 1873 and was a delegate to the national convention of 1888. Mr. Burton, who will take the place of Lucien Baker as representative of Kansas, is a native of Indiana. He has lived at Abilene, Kas., for eighteen years, during which he has practiced law. In 1896 he was a candidate against Mr. Baker for the seat he has now won and was defeated in the caucus by only one vote. Mr. Burton was the only prominent republican in Kansas who never wavered in his advocacy of the single standard. Robert J. Gamble, who will succeed Richard F. Pettigrew as senator from South Dakota, is a native of New York and a former teacher and lawyer in Wisconsin. In 1876 he removed from Appleton, in that state, to Dakota, where he has since been a prominent attorney, politician and legislator. He is noted for his scholarship and his liberal views upon questions of national importance. E. W. Carmack, who will succeed Thomas B. Turley as United States senator from Tennessee, is a journalist, and was formerly the editor of The Memphis Commercial-Appeal. He was one of the foremost free silver men in the south four or five years ago, but resigned his position as principal editor of The Commercial-Appeal when the stockholders of that paper objected to what he regarded as a just policy.

HEBREWS FINISH WORK; MEET NEXT IN ST. LOUIS

Cincinnati, O., January 16.—The seventeenth council Union of American Hebrew Congregations concluded tonight and will meet in St. Louis in 1903.

A standing committee was appointed on circuit preaching which will have power to employ field secretaries, to organize country congregations and others for such missionary work as the Hebrews have not done heretofore.

Most of the day was devoted to the consideration of the proposition to raise $500,000 for the endowment of the Hebrew Union college in this city to be called the Wise Memorial Fund. There are over 700 Hebrew congregations in the United States and only about a hundred and fifty of them in the union. The rabbis of all congregations were requested to assist in raising this fund.

A resolution was adopted creating a standing committee of twenty-one members of the Isaac M. Wise Memorial Fund, with headquarters in Cincinnati, which is to make a final report at the next meeting in St. Louis. It was reported that over $100,000 had already been secured, $40,000 of it from Cincinnati. The committee on civil and religious rights reported, condemning the cruelties to Jews in Europe and appealing for relief from the Russian and Roumanian Jews.

This committee also recommended a closer union with the Independent Order of the B'nai Brith, in all matters pertaining to equal rights all over the world.

Morris Cohn, of Little Rock, Ark., was made a member of the executive board.

against the practice and scored him heavily for taking part in unmanly methods of practically forcing a new comer to sure defeat and a sound drubbing at the hands of a picked representative of an upper class.

The witness was then allowed to go.

Cadet Pegram, of Virginia, fought with F. M. Smith, of the third class, in barracks on November 5th, last. He was awarded the fight on a foul and was in the hospital for a week after it.

The committee then adjourned until 8 o'clock tonght.

FIGHT WON'T BE CALLED OFF.

Indications Are That Jeffries and Ruhlin Will Meet in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., January 16.—There were rumors here tonight that the contest between Jeffries and Ruhlin at Saengerfest hall, February 15, would be called off by the Saengerfest board within twenty-four hours. This, however, has been denied by Hermann Witte, the attorney for the board, and Manager E. G. Cook, the representative of William A. Brady and others. According to Manager Cook, tickets for the contest will be on sale next Wednesday, January 23.

William E. Madden, Ruhlin's manager, said that training quarters had been secured at Newport, Ky., and that Ruhlin would begin training at the end of the present week. Jeffries will likely train in this city.

EMBEZZLEMENT THE CHARGE.

Arrest of Mason, a New York Bank Teller.

New York, January 16.—J. Provost Mason, third teller of the Continental National bank, of this city, is in jail, charged with embezzlement. Mason was arrested late last night, charged with stealing $5,000 by means of false entries.

The peculations foot up $12,000 in all according to the Fidelity and Casualty Company, which was on Mason's bond for $10,000. Mason is forty-eight years old. He has been with the bank twenty-seven years and received a salary of $1,800 a year.

Mason was arraigned before the United States commissioner. He pleaded not guilty and asked for an examination. The commissioner fixes bail at $10,000.

DEMAND NOTICE WITHDRAWN.

San Dominicans and the Collection of Custom Duties.

San Domingo, Republic of Santo Domingo, January 16, via Haytien cable.—The chamber of commerce has adopted a resolution to ignore the notice of the San Domingo Improvement Company, of New York, declaring null and void the government's disposition and collection of the custom duties, and demanding that the directors of the company withdraw the notice which has caused irritation. The minister of foreign affairs will leave here tomorrow on a mission to the government of the United States. All is quiet here.

CHINESE SIGN AGREEMENT.

State Department Has Been So Advised—Future Proceedings.

Washington, January 16.—The state department has been advised of the formal signature by the Chinese plenipotentiaries of the Pekin agreement, but so far it knows nothing officially of the difficulties which arose in connection with the affixing of the seals.

The next step probably will be a reconvention of the ministerial council at Pekin, and it is probable that the gathering will be attended by the Chinese representatives, so that the proceedings will from this point on follow closely in the line of the usual form of peace negotiations.

Walker Installed as Agent.

Helena, Ga., January 16.—A. W. Waller was today installed as agent of the Seaboard Air Line railway at this place, succeeding W. S. Middlemas, who goes to Cordele to accept the Seaboard agency there. Mr. Waller comes to this place from Meldrim, Ga.

HEART FAILURE

Every day adds to the list of deaths attributed to heart failure. If the truth were told the bulk of these deaths might be written down as due to stomach failure. For it is in the failure of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, that "weak" heart, "weak" lungs, "weak" nerves and other forms of physicial deterioration having their beginning. The man whose stomach is sound, who can digest and assimilate the food he eats, and so keep each organ of the body well nourished, is the man who is least liable to collapse under the sudden weakness of some vital organ.

The preservation of health which follows the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, is chiefly due to the fact that it perfectly and permanently cures diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, purifies the blood and increases the blood supply of the body. Weak people will find in this medicine a sure means of strength.

"I was under doctors' care for quite a time," writes Mr. J. F. Kidd, of Parmleysville, Wayne Co., Ky. "They had almost given me up, and my suffering was very great. My pulse was weak, breath short and I had severe pains in back, head and legs. Had palpitation of heart, and for eleven months I was not able to do a day's work. I purchased five bottles of Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and by the time the fifth bottle was gone I was a well man."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate the liver.

BOERS MAY MAKE ATTACK ON MINES

Rumor to That Effect Circulated at Cape Town.

MAY BE A RUSE OF DE WET'S

Probably Wants To Throw Enemy Off Their Guard.

BRITISH ARMY IS RAPIDLY RECRUITING

Many Volunteers Responding to the Call—Order in Pretoria Forbidding Civilians Wearing of Khaki.

London, January 16.—The important report received from Johannesburg that General Dewet has crossed the Vaal and joined forces with the Transvaal commandoes, if true, probably means the concentration of 7,000 Boers, with several guns, for another big attack.

There is a rumor current in Cape Town that several Boer leaders are urging an attack upon the mines. It has long been understood that General Dewet has been anxious to join the invaders in Cape Colony, and this rumor may be spread to cover an attempt to break southward.

As the Boers in several instances have worn khaki, a government notice has been promulgated in Pretoria prohibiting civilians from wearing khaki and notifying all persons wearing this costume, which is likely to be mistaken for the British uniform, that they will render themselves liable to arrest and imprisonment.

The response to the government's call for volunteers is said to be very brisk in both London and the provinces. Defensive measures in South Africa proceed apace. Seven thousand men have joined the city guard in Cape Town and 3,000 others have volunteered in the suburbs.

NEILL WRITES COTTON LETTER.

Says His Estimate of Crop Has Been Reaffirmed.

New Orleans, January 16.—The Times-Democrat will tomorrow publish the following letter from Mr. Neill, the cotton statistician:

"Our London circular, to be published tomorrow, will reaffirm my estimate of 9,750,000 on the following grounds:

"The amount in sight December 31st was 6,608,000, on the average of the past ten years, or 69.23 per cent; the crop is 9,545,000.

"Excluding last year, whose delivery was abnormal, on the average of the previous five years, or 69.39 per cent, the crop would be 9,538,000.

"Excluding last year, the average of the five slowest moving crops previous to last year in eight years, 68.98 per cent, the crop would be 9,580,000.

"To reach ten million, the proportion at the first of January must be 66.08 per cent of the crop.

"What chance of that, with the above record, knowing as we do the extra inducement to early marketing in the prices; knowing, as we do, that southern mills are not stocking up as they did last year, and knowing, as we do, that exporters are active buyers. It is true that merchant shippers cannot carry cotton on hedges in more distant months, but still cotton goes at current prices, which are satisfactory to the planter, and any stocks being carried are by a few farmers and a large body of country merchants, who, knowing the crop to be short, are carrying it for higher prices. This might be a weak feature, if the south were not so strong financially that they command the situation."

Good Results Promised.

Brunswick, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—Hell's half acre was raided last night and about twenty denizens pulled. The raid promises good results.

WARSHIP GIVEN HURRY ORDERS

Scorpion Ordered To Proceed to Guanaco, Venezuela.

REVOLUTION IS INCREASING

If Attempt Is Made To Interfere with American Interests There Will Be Trouble—Instructions to American Minister.

Washington, January 16.—At the request of the state department, the navy department has instructed the commander of the Scorpion to proceed at once from La Guira to Guanaco, Venezuela, to protect American interests, upon reports that the revolutionary movement there is increasing and the attempt is making to take possession of the arms of the New York and Bermuda company.

The news came to the state department from a private, but perfectly reliable source, and was made the basis of immediate representations to the navy department. Secretary Long responded very promptly. Captain Cowles, acting as chief of the navigation bureau, conferred with Acting Secretary of State Hill respecting the movements of the naval vessels and the character of the instructions to be sent to Lieutenant Commander Sargeant, of the Scorpion, which happens to be the only vessel available for immediate service, and adjacent to the scene of trouble. Commander Sargent has been instructed to avoid bloodshed and the destruction of property if possible. Still, taken in connection with what has gone before, there is little doubt that if the disturbing forces in Venezuela, whether governmental or revolutionary, are seeking to take action toward disposing of the incumbents in the asphalt concessions, in defiance of the agreement that there should first be a thorough judicial inquiry, the United States warship will prevent that action, peaceably, if possible, forcibly if necessary. Guanaco is not to be found on the ordinary charts, but is said to be the nearest point to the asphalt concessions accessible to the Scorpion, lying up the Orinoco river about two days' run from La Guira, so that the warship should be at the seat of trouble before the end of the present week.

The state department also is in receipt of private, but trustworthy, advices that the Orinoco Shipping and Trading company, two of whose vessels were seized yesterday by the Venezuelan government, is an English corporation. The vessels are under the British registry, but fly the Venezuelan flag. The state department is unable to intervene directly to compel restitution, but as American capital is invested in the company, it has directed Minister Loomis to use his good offices, as far as possible, to protect these American interests.

MILLIONAIRES NOW IN FLORIDA

English and American Wealth Is Being Disbursed.

Jacksonville, Fla., January 16.—(Special.)—Since the formal opening of the tourist season yesterday notable people from all over the world have been rushing into the state. The duke of Newcastle and his brother, Lord Hope, with retinue of servants, arrived this afternoon and proceeded to St. Augustine. From there they will go to Palm Beach and Miami fishing tarpon. Edwin Gould and party of three arrived at Fernandina this afternoon on Mr. Gould's private yacht Nana, and from there they will cruise in Florida waters for several days. A. L. Barber, the asphalt millionaire, and family, of New York, arrived today on Mr. Barber's yacht Shenara, and will be joined here tomorrow by a party of friends from the east, after which the cruise will be extended to the West Indies.

GREAT BRITAIN WILL LET THE CANAL TREATY LAPSE

London, January 16.—There is no shadow of doubt that if the opinion of the foreign office is followed, Great Britain will either regretfully express her inability to comply with the amendments to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, or fail to take any action whatever, in which case the treaty will lapse of itself. Several of Lord Lansdowne's advisers favor the latter course. Were not the question regarded from the broad standpoint of Great Britain's general policy toward the United States it would be safe to say the senate's amendments would meet with a prompt refusal, and if that does occur it will be done with a full appreciation on the part of Great Britain of any and all consequences.

YELLOW PINE HAS ADVANCED.

Southern Association Adds on $1 Per Thousand Feet.

Memphis, Tenn., January 16.—After electing officers and advancing the price on yellow pine $1 per thousand feet, the Southern Lumber Manufacturers' Association adjourned sine die tonight. The convention held two sessions today and the time was taken up with the discussion of grades, rates and prices. It was unanimously decided to advance the prices on yellow pine. Officers were elected tonight as follows: President, S. H. Fullerton, St. Louis, Mo.; secretary, George H. Smith, St. Louis, Mo. The old board of directors was elected, together with last year's board of vice presidents.

The next semi-annual meeting will be held in July, the date and place to be made public by the board of directors.

LEE RAISES LARGE HOGS ONLY.

Ware County Farmer Brings Up Great Swine.

Waycross, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—T. M. Lee, a farmer living near Beach, this county, a few days ago slaghtered a hog from which he realized 400 pounds of meat, 150 pounds lard and 100 pounds sausages. The head and feet weighed sixty-two pounds. Mr. Lee took the premium of $10 in gold at the Waycross fair in 1899 for the finest hog.

COLORED BISHOPS IN SESSION.

Methodist Episcopal Church Directors In Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—The bishops of the Colored Methodist Episcopal church in America met in semi-annual council at 10 o'clock today at St. Paul's church, on Maple street. Bishop J. A. Beebe, D.D., of the first Episcopal diocese, presided with Bishop R. S. Williams D. D., of the Fourth Episcopal diocese, secretary. The meeting this morning was held with closed doors, preparatory to the further work of the council, which will be participated in by the general officers, distinguished clergymen and laymen of the church. One of the chief purposes of the council will be the apportionment of the twentieth century fund of $25,000, which has been raised by the bishops of the several conferences.

Lands for Settlers.

Jacksonville, Fla., January 16.—(Special.)—Osceola county has about 400,000 acres, much of it very rich land, that will be open to settlers. Many applications are already being filed for portions wanted. The lands extend to six other counties.

Editor Shackelford Sick.

Lexington, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—Editor W. A. Shackelford, of The Echo, is sick with grip at his home.

OFFICERS SAY THEY HAVE ONE CUDAHY KIDNAPER

Muncie, Ind., January 16.—It leaked out today that two detectives, one from Indianapolis named Jungan and W. Inheimer, of LaFayette, came to Muncie early yesterday morning and dug up a bag containing $6,000 in gold in a yard near the Shephard saloon. The money is alleged to have been planted by Frank Buck, of LaFayette, arrested here last week charged with horse stealing. The LaFayette officer took Buck to state prison and it is said that en route Buck told the officer where the money was planted and gave him a map of the ground. When arrested Buck was negotiating for the purchase of Shephard's saloon for $5,000 cash. It is supposed that he was one of the Cudahy kidnapers at Omaha and that the gold is part of the $25,000 ransom paid by E. A. Cudahy.

ARMY BILL COMES TO VOTE TOMORROW

Feature of Yesterday's Debate Was on Hazing.

DECLARED TO BE COWARDLY

Money, of Mississippi, Vehemently Denounced Hazing.

WOULD GO GUNNING FOR GUILTY

Hawley Gets Unanimous Consent for a Vote on the Bill at 3 O'Clock Friday.

Washington, January 16.—A final vote upon the pending army reorganization bill will be taken by the senate at 4 o'clock Friday, under the terms of an agreement reached late today. The feature of the debate was the denunciation of the practice of hazing at the West Point Military Academy. Mr. Allen of Nebraska, Mr. Money of Mississippi and Mr. McCumber declared it to be an evidence of brutality and cowardice.

Mr. Gallinger reported the pension appropriation bill and it went to the calendar.

House bill to divide the state of West Virginia into two judicial districts was passed.

Consideration of the army reorganization bill was then resumed.

Mr. Money, of Mississippi, referring to the West Point scandal, declared that if he were a cadet at West Point and was hazed in so cowardly and brutal a manner, he would kill the hazers, if the opportunity did not come for a hundred years afterwards.

Mr. Teller declared conditions in the Philippines had not improved since the United States had succeeded Spain there. Mr. Teller said:

"I want to hold the islands, because I think that would be better for the Filipinos, and that the islands will be valuable to us. If, however, we can hold them only by force there is no consideration, financial, commercial or any other, that will justify us in retaining them."

Mr. Butler, in opposing the pending measure, said he was ready now to vote for any army that the government might need for the present emergency, or any emergency that might arise, but he was unalterably opposed to the creation of a large standing army. He urged that not a single reason had been furnished for the creation of an army of 100,000 soldiers and for the rejection of the proposition to supply to the government a volunteer army for service in the Philippines.

Mr. Hawley asked for unanimous consent that a final vote to taken on the bill and amendments at 3 o'clock tomorrow.

Mr. Daniel, of Virginia, objected.

Mr. Hawley then requested a final vote at 3 o'clock on Friday. To this no objection was entered and the agreement was announced formally. After almost an hour's executive session the senate at 5:50 adjourned.

NORTH CAROLINA ASSEMBLY.

Senate and House Hear New Bills Read.

Raleigh, N. C., January 16.—(Special.)—In the senate today the State Bar Association presented memorials urging an increase of the superior court districts from twelve to sixteen, and also creating of a code commission.

Bills were introduced to prohibit the sale of cigarettes in North Carolina; to incorporate the Southport and Northwestern railway. A bill was passed allowing the United States government to acquire national forest reserve in North Carolina and to allow charters to corporations with over $1,000,000 capital stock. Senator Ward introduced a bill repealing the present anti-trust laws and enacting a law similar to that of Texas and Nebraska. It is especially designed to prevent the organization of a combine to control the price of pine lumber in North Carolina. A bill was introduced in the house to authorize the penitentiary to buy or lease or build one or more fertilizer factories and manufacture commercial fertilizer without license or tax, the agricultural department to name the brands and to see they are pure. Convicts are to do the work under skilled instructors.

MAXON'S ARREST A SURPRISE.

Traced from New York to Georgia and Carried Back.

Binghamton, N. Y., January 16.—(Special.)—The arrest of Warren L. Maxon at Ty Ty, Ga., on a charge of embezzlement has caused a sensation in this section. Maxon stood high in the community, where he was a leading church member and a prominent politician. It is alleged that on the 13th of July last he was given the sum of $1,500 to deposit in a bank in the city of Utica by C. F. Wilcox and wife, an aged couple. The money represented the savings of years and was all the old folks possessed. Other persons who had trusted him with small amounts began an investigation and officers were placed on his track. He was traced to Georgia, and, when located at Ty Ty, Governor Odell was asked to issue requisition papers. These were secured and placed in the hands of Sheriff Lester L. Rose, of Otsego county, who went to Georgia and got his man. The arrest came as a shock to Maxon's friends, and it is said they will endeavor to straighten matters up for him. Meanwhile church and political circles are deeply stirred by the event.

WEST FLORIDA ANNEXATION.

Mass Meeting Held at Pensacola Last Night.

Pensacola, Fla., January 16.—A mass meeting of west Floridians was held here tonight in the interest of annexing west Florida to Alabama. Representatives of nearly every county west of the Chattahoochee were present. Several speeches were made endorsing the proposition. The chairman appointed a committee composed of two members from each west Florida county to present the question to the legislature of Florida and Alabama. Initial steps toward organizing a west Florida annexation association were taken.

Wooden Leg as an Asset.

Augusta, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—Thomas N. Lewis, of Thomson, filed a petition in bankruptcy today, alleging $2,000 liabilities and $25 assets, consisting of clothing and one wooden leg worth one dollar.

MANY PERSONS KILLED IN A KENTUCKY RIOT

Corbin, Ky., January 16.—A riot is in progress here tonight as a result of the shooting this afternoon of James Shotwell by Rollie White, and several persons have been killed and injured. Shotwell is in a precarious condition late tonight and is not expected to recover. The trouble grew out of the fact that White had been paying attentions to Shotwell's daughter against the will of the later. After the shooting White submited to arrest and was placed in his brother's grocery store where a guard was placed over him awaiting the arrival of the sheriff.

At 6:30 p. m., a terrific explosion took place under the grocery. So severe was the shock that it tore the building literally to pieces. There were about a dozen persons in the building at the time. Several escaped with slight injuries, while several remain in the debris, dead. No one at this time can say how many are killed. Immediately after the explosion there was rapid firing in the neighborhood by unknown parties concealed in the darkness. After the shooting Susan Cox was found dead near the wrecked building having been struck by a stray bullet. Citizens are afraid to visit the rioting district tonight and the number of killed cannot be ascertained until morning.

Mrs. Charlton Dies in New York.

Savannah, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—Mrs. Heman A. Charlton died suddenly this morning in New York, presumably of lagrippe. Mrs. Charlton was the youngest daughter of R. G. Fleming, late superintendent of the Savannah, Florida and Western railway, and left here to reside in New York about a year and a half ago. She was a sister of Mrs. W. K. Beard, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. J. B. Johnson and R. G. Fleming, of Savannah.

Killed by Section Hands.

Savannah, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—Isaiah A. Morrison, colored, was shot and killed this morning eight miles from Savannah by John Spalding and George Walker, section hands on the Seaboard Air Line. Both Spalding and Walker fired shots into Morrison.

National Live Stock Men.

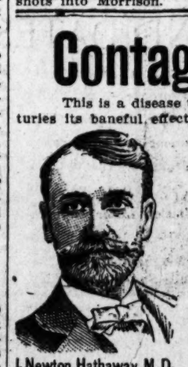

Salt Lake, Utah, January 16.—At today's session of the National Live Stock Association, President Springer read an anti-shoddy resolution, adopted by the executive committee last night. The resolution, which was adopted by the convention, calls attention to the extensive use of cotton and shoddy in what was put into so-called "woolen goods," and asks congress to provide and enact such legislation as will prevent fraud in marketing the manufactured article as wholly of wool.

Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Your druggist will refund your money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure you; 50 cents.

Contagious Blood Poison.

This is a disease the serious condition of which is well understood. For centuries its baneful effects have been handed from one generation to another, for unless every vestige of the disease is eliminated, the dreadful taint is certain to be transmitted to posterity. My treatment for this disease is a positive and permanent cure, and has been so demonstrated in thousands of cases. It gently but thoroughly cleanses the system of every trace of the vile poison, removing promptly every outward indication of the disease, and cures to stay cured. I do not dose my patients on strong drugs which damage the system; my treatment is thoroughly effective, but entirely harmless. I have treated this disease successfully for twenty years, and by an original method, known only to myself. I have cured more cases than any other physician in the United States. I also treat with the same success all chronic and private diseases of both men and women, such as Loss of Manly Vigor, Stricture, Varicocele, Skin Diseases, Kidney and Bladder Complaints, Female Weakness, etc. I invite every one to consult me without charge, either in person or by letter, and will take pleasure in sending my newest 64-page book and symptom blanks, explaining fully my perfect system of home treatment. Correspondence strictly confidential.

MANY GREAT MEN

And Many Accomplished Women Recommend Pe-ru-na for Chronic Catarrh.

CONGRESSMAN A. T. GOODWYN, OF ALABAMA.

Hon. A. T. Goodwyn, Congressman of Alabama, in a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, from Robinson Springs, Ala., says:

"I have now used one bottle of Peruna and am a well man today. I could feel the good effects of your medicine before I had used it a week, after suffering with catarrh for over a year."

A. T. GOODWYN.

WHAT the skin is to the outside of the body, the mucous membrane is to the inside of the body. Every organ, every duct and passage of the body is lined with mucous membranes.

A general flabbiness of these mucous membranes constitutes what Dr. Hartman calls systemic catarrh. A person with systemic catarrh cannot stand exertion. He is tired out. He is nervous and fidgety. He is sallow and depressed. He has little zest for life and is unfitted for business.

NEW YORK CITY.
20 West Fifteenth Street.
February 7, 1900.

The Peruna Medicine Co. Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen—"Lately I have devoted myself more to art work than dramatic. While illustrating, I spent much of my time naturally indoors, which taxed me greatly. I felt the absence of good, fresh air and sunshine. When much run down, I resolved to give Peruna a trial. I am now so well that I feel I must add my testimony to that of others, out of gratitude for my restoration and preservation." — Irene Akerman.

Miss Irene Akerman.

In systemic catarrh there is more or less catarrh of every organ in the body. The catarrh may have originated in the head and throat, but it has finally pervaded the whole system.

It produces a wretched condition. The mucous membranes of the whole body refuse to do their work properly. Sight, hearing and taste, are slightly affected. The lungs are weak; the voice husky. The tonsils are red and inflamed. The stomach does not digest food well. The liver acts sluggishly.

Suffered from Catarrh for Nine Years—Was Cured in Five Months.

From letters written by Mr. Peter Hattenberger, of Porterfield, Wis., we quote extracts as follows:

August 1, 1890.

Dr. S. B. Hartman:

Dear Sir—"I have been suffering with chronic catarrh about nine years, and it has now settled on my lungs and I have all the symptoms of consumption.

"December 18, 1890—I am still following your advice and am getting along well.

"February 12, 1891—I am still improving in every way. The catarrh is leaving my head and throat.

"April 27, 1891—I am still using your medicine. My health is improving right along, my appetite is good and I feel better than I have in five or six years.

"August 28, 1891—I am rid of the catarrh now, and feel perfectly well and happy." —Peter Hattenberger.

Nine Years Later His Cure Remained Permanent.

In a letter, written January 1, 1899, Mr. Hattenberger says:

"I am in splendid health at present and I am not in need of any medicine. However, I always keep a bottle of Peruna in my house. Sometimes I catch a little cold, but a few doses of Peruna stops that right away.

"It is through Peruna that I enjoy such good health, and I recommend it to all who suffer from catarrh the same as I do."—Peter Hattenberger.

Peruna Is a Natural and Efficient Nerve Tonic.

Peruna strengthens and restores the activity of every nerve in the body. Through the use of Peruna the weakened or overworked nerves resume their natural strength and the blood vessels at once begin to regulate the flow of blood according to nature's laws. Congestions immediately disappear. All phases of catarrh, acute or chronic, are promptly and permanently cured.

It is through its operation upon the nervous system that Peruna has attained such a world-wide reputation as a sure and reliable remedy for all phases of pelvic catarrh known as female ailments.

It is the best, if not the only, internal remedy for pelvic catarrh ever devised by the medical profession.

The Home of Peruna, Columbus, O.

Mr. B. Martens, of Sigel, Wis., writes: "For some time my wife had been sick. She was very thin, had no appetite, could not sleep nights, and was troubled with constipation.

"The physicians we consulted said it was dyspepsia. One of them said it was catarrh. She could get no relief until she began to take Peruna and Manalin. Before she had taken half a bottle of each she was conscious of a marked change.

"She began to sleep at night, appetite came back, bowels were regular, and now, after taking five bottles, she is entirely well. She looks like a new woman.

"We cannot say half enough in praise of your medicines. The physicians we employed were very much surprised when they learned that Peruna and Manalin cured my wife."

There are no substitutes for Peruna. Peruna is the only systemic catarrh remedy on the market. No remedy before the public today can boast of as many complete cures as Peruna.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL IS PASSED BY THE HOUSE

Washington, January 16.—The river and harbor appropriation bill was passed today by the house. The bill passed practically as it came from the committee. It carries slightly less than $60,000,000, of which $23,000,000 is in direct appropriations. The friends of the Missouri river improvement, although they were unsuccessful in securing what they desired, persuaded Chairman Burton to offer an amendment to permit owners of property abutting on the Missouri to build dykes and wing dams for its protection where such structures do not interfere with the navigation of the stream. The section empowering the president to negotiate with Great Britain for the maintenance of suitable levels on the great lakes was broadened so as to provide for a joint commission to conduct the negotiations.

The house laid on the table the DeArmond resolution, calling on the war department for all information relative to the alleged action of General Chaffee in protesting against the looting in China, with the recommendation that it lie on the table. Mr. DeArmond said he was satisfied with the secretary of state's explanation of the difficulty in answering.

Chairman Burton offered a substitute for section 4, which was adopted. It authorized the president to invite Great Britain to join in an international commission, composed of three members from each country, to report from time to time upon the conditions and uses of the waters adjacent to the boundary line between the United States and Canada, including all the waters of the lakes and rivers whose waters flow by the St. Lawrence to the Atlantic ocean.

Several minor amendments were offered and defeated. Upon the completion of the bill, Mr. Cushman, of Washington, attempted to prevent the committee from rising and reporting the bill to the house, but he was overwhelmed, the vote standing 185 to 2. The committee accordingly rose.

Mr. Cushman moved to recommit the bill. He demanded the ayes and noes, but was supported by only four members. This motion being lost, Mr. Sulzer, of New York, demanded the ayes and noes on the passage of the bill. Only thirteen members backed the demand, and the bill was passed without division.

The senate concurrent resolution to pay the expenses of the inauguration of the president and vice president, amended so as to provide for a joint committee of the house and senate in charge, was adopted.

Another concurrent resolution to provide for this joint committee to arrange the details of the inauguration ceremonies also was adopted.

Then, at 5:15 o'clock, the house adjourned.

FEMALE CONVICTS CONFESS ARSON

Four Women in the Penitentiary Apply the Torch.

LEADER WENT FROM ATLANTA

Building Occupied by Female Prisoners of the State Farm Was Burned Some Time Ago, and Prisoners Now Admit the Crime.

Milledgeville, Ga., January 16.—Special.) The grand jury today brought in indictments against four female convicts at the state farm, chargirg them with arson. The indictments are for burning the female building at the state farm and charges them with maliciously burning the occupied dwelling house of F. M. Allagood. Mr. Allagood had this building in charge and occupied a portion of it as his residence. Those indicted are Mary Traylor, white, who was sentenced from Fulton county to serve a term of ten years for larceny from the house. Mary Traylor was at the time of her conviction indicted for arson, as will be well remembered by the people of Atlanta; Emma Yeates, colored, of Fulton, sent up for two years for concealing stolen goods; Lethie Rush, colored, of Richmond, for burglary, one year; Roxie Collier, colored, of Floyd, burglary, for four years.

Since the burning the officials have been vigilant in their efforts to ferret the case and locate the guilty parties. A few days ago Lethie Rush stated to Mr. Allagood that she would confess the affair and told him in full the whole scheme and plan of the burning. Emma Yeates and Lethie Rush, both of whom confessed, stated that they were to watch while Mary Traylor and Roxie Collier did the work. Roxie struck the first match to light the building, which had been soaked with turpentine. This match going out, Mary Traylor struck another and handed the lighted match to Roxie, who applied it. The cases will be heard this or the first of next week.

SOUTHERN MILL OWNERS MEET

Sign Agreement Regarding the Working of Children.

Charlotte, N. C., January 16.—Sixty North Carolina mill owners, said to represent over one hundred cotton mills, met in Greensboro, N. C., today and considered the questions of reductions of hours and child labor. An "agreement and petition" was signed by forty of those in attendance and it was decided to circulate it among all the mill owners of North Carolina for their approval. It provides that taking effect March 1, 1901, one week's work shall not exceed 66 hours; no child less than twelve years old shall work in a cotton mill during a school term, provided this shall not apply to children of widows or physically disabled parents; that ten years shall be the lowest limit at which children may be worked; all will promote the education of the working people; on the basis of these agreements of the cotton mill owners petition the legislature not to pass any labor laws at this session.

ENGLAND WOULD SEIZE CUBA.

Fitzhugh Lee Declares There Is Danger in Withdrawal of Troops.

Little Rock, Ark., January 16.—General Fitzhugh Lee, United States army, who arrived here today to inspect Fort Logan H. Roots, was honored with a series of receptions by different civic organizations. This afternoon he accepted the invitation of the Arkansas legislature and addressed the senate and house in joint session. In reference to Cuba's future, he said:

"The geographical position of that beautiful island is such that the United States must always keep some sort of supervision over it. Any hostile power holding Cuba could shut up the gulf of Mexico. If the United States withdraws its troops and complaint should go to England that English interests on the island were not protected, in less than six or seven days you would see an English fleet sailing into Havana harbor, and after it got there it is doubtful whether any power could ever then get possession of the island."

General Lee visits Hot Springs tomorrow.

WANTS A NEW CONSTITUTION.

Alabama's Democratic Executive Committee Meets.

Montgomery, Ala., January 16.—(Special.)—The state executive committee of the democratic party of Alabama met here today, thirty members being present. The committee gave its unqualified indorsement to the movement for a new constitution and pronounced it a democratic measure. Saturday, March 9th was fixed as the day for holding primaries and March 4th for the county convention. The county committees are directed to meet February 28th. The committee rules that only such persons as voted the democratic ticket in the August and November elections should be eligible to participate in the proposed primary.

ROSEBERY SEES DANGER AHEAD FROM THE TRUSTS OF AMERICA

LONDON, January 16.—The earl of Rosebery, responding to a toast to his health this evening at the annual banquet of the Wolverhampton chamber of commerce, spoke of the "great commercial warfare being waged against England."

"The chief rivals to be feared," said his lordship, "are America and Germany.

The Americans, with their vast and almost incalculable resources, their acuteness and enterprise, and their huge population, which will probably be 100,000,000 in twenty years, together with the plan they have adopted for putting accumulated wealth into great co-operative syndicates or trusts for the purpose of carrying on this great commercial warfare, are perhaps the most formidable.

"On the other hand, the Germans, with their calculating and conquering spirit and the energy with which they seize and use the best and most economical methods, are but little less redoubtable than the Americans.

LORD ROSEBERY.

"The Americans, scarcely satisfied with gigantic individual fortune, use these by combination to make of capital a power which, wielded by one or two minds, is almost irresistible; and, if this power is concentrated against Great Britain in trade warfare, it will be a danger we cannot afford to disregard.

"A trust of many millions might compete with any trade in England, underselling all her products at a considerable loss. This is a possible outcome of the immediate future. A curious feature, if I may say so, without impertinence, seems to be that in combination with the faculty for the acquisition of money there is a complete contempt for money except as a means of making more and for power. These millionaires of whom we hear so much are often men of simple lives whose simple rule is to make enormous accumulations in order to acquire more power.

"England, in order to withstand international competition, must thoroughly educate her youth; and I would suggest sending batches of young men abroad to learn the best our rivals know."

CHARGES AGAINST BAILEY ARE SUBMITTED WITHOUT AFFIDAVIT

AUSTIN, Tex., January 16.—(Special.) When Representative McFall sent in a list of charges before the Bailey investigation committee this afternoon in compliance with his statement issued last night that he would do so, they were not admitted for the reason that they were not sworn to.

Congressman Bailey as soon as the communication was received, asked if the statements therein were sworn to. The reply was that there was no affidavit attached. Mr. Bailey then insisted that the committee not receive the communication, that he knew absolutely nothing of the contents, but he protested to the manner in which Mr. McFall was treating the committee and called attention to the fact that though McFall had been subpoened to appear and give testimony under oath that he did not do so, but sent a list of charges or some kind of a statement not sworn to of which he asked consideration.

The chairman of the committee stated that he had notified Mr. McFall that all charges must in future be under oath and he presumed that the gentleman did not know that fact that McFall had sent him word that he would be able to appear before the committee tomorrow morning and if the committee saw fit that it could hold up this communication from McFall until morning and then have him submit the same as his testimony and swear to it.

HON. JOE BAILEY,
Texan Who Clamors for Investigation of Charges Preferred.

The chairman of the committee declined in the meantime in justice to Mr. Bailey to give out either the communication or any information as to its contents.

Mr. McFall sent in the names of Ex-Lieutenant Governor Barney Gibbs, of Dallas, District Atorney Cullen F. Thomas, of Waco; as two of the most prominent witnesses he desired summoned to substantiate his charges against Bailey. Subpoenas were issued for them and they will be brought here by morning to testify.

While waiting for Mr. McFall to be able to get up and the arrival of two witnesses in question, the committee decided to go octopus hunting against the Waters Pierce Oil Company and placed representative Smith, of Collins county, on the stand to prove that that company was a trust, that gentleman having announced on the floor of the house that the corporation in question was a trust. He testified that as far as he knew the corporation in question was a trust and held undisputed sway in Texas. To offset this statement a prominent commercial agency representative was placed on the stand to show that there were other oil companies doing business in that state. This was all the testimony available all day and the committee adjourned, not, however, till they listened to an earnest address from Mr. Bailey urging that they push the investigation as rapidly as possible, and so that he might be relieved of its embarrassing nature.

PATTERSON SUCCEEDS WOLCOTT; HE WILL UNITE WITH DEMOCRATS

DENVER, Col., January 16.—The two houses of the legislature met in joint session at noon today, and Thomas M. Patterson was formally declared United States senator. The total vote was 99, of which Patterson received 91 and Edward O. Wolcott 8.

Senator-elect Patterson made a speech, in which he announced that he would unite with the democrats in the senate. He spoke of the evils of trusts, and on the money question said he did not believe that the struggle for bimetallism is over. He looks for its ultimate triumph.

Unexpired term: Saulsbury, democrat 22; Addicks, union republican, 16; Richards, republican, 9; scattering, republicans and democrats, 4; necessary to a choice, 26.

EDWARD O. WOLCOTT,
Long Time Senator from Colorado Is Defeated with Ease.

Balloting in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., January 26.—The legislature in joint session today balloted for senator. There was no choice. The vote: Allen, fusion, 56; W. H. Thompson, fusion, 58; Crounse, 10; Currie, 20; Hainer, 5; Hinshaw, 18; Melklejohn, 26; Rosewater, 14; D. F. Thompson, 32; balance scattering.

McMillan Succeeds Himself.

Lansing, Mich., January 16.—In joint convention of the state legislature today, Senator James McMillan was formally declared re-elected United States senator.

Chandler's Successor.

Concord, N. H., January 16.—Henry E. Burnham, republican, of Manchester, was today declared elected United States senator.

Hoar's Election.

Boston, January 16.—The re-election of George F. Hoar as United States senator was formally announced today.

Augusta, Me., January 16.—The legislature today confirmed and announced the election of W. P. Frye.

Not Wanted in Florida.

Tallahassee, Fla., January 16.—Governor Jennings today received a wire asking if the Jeffries-Ruhlin fight could be pulled off in this state. He replied that such fights were prohibited by law in Florida, and that the law could not be violated.

DUKE OF MANCHESTER AND BRIDE ARE IN NEW ORLEANS

THE DUKE OF MANCHESTER.

New Orleans, January 16.—The Duke and Duchess of Manchester and their party arrived this evening and are quartered at the St. Charles hotel for three days, when they will proceed to California.

Several elaborate private entertainments will be given them, one by the Del Valles, cousins of the Yznaga family, to which the duke's mother belonged.

PLANT SYSTEM TO BE REORGANIZED

At Meeting To Be Held in April Change Will Be Worked.

IT SIMPLIFIES THE WORK

Various Lines Now Owned by the Same People Will Be Placed Under One Management Within a Very Short Time.

Savannah, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—A general reorganization of the railways included in the Plant system has been determined upon, provided the plans of the directors can be carried out. The meetings of the boards at which the reorganization is to be effected will be held, it is understood, in April. The Savannah, Florida and Western is to be the leading line in the reorganization. It is to acquire the stock of other lines comprising the system and issue preferred stock upon all the property included in the reorganization. No difference in the methods of operating the Plant system will follow the reorganization. For years the several lines have been consolidated in so far as their operation is concerned, but their accounts have been audited independently. The comptroller keeps separate records of the earnings and expenses of each of the lines and each line has its own board of directors. It is said that the principal object aimed at by the Plant system people in the proposed consolidation is the simplification of the work of the auditing department. The labor of conducting the affairs of many separate lines, too, would be greatly decreased, and a general board of directors might, with comparatively slight increase in time and work, transact the business of the entire system. On the board of directors of the several lines are found the same names, in a number of cases, the Plant Investment Company being represented as the principal stockholder.

Savannah brokers have noted considerable activity within the last few days in the demand for securities of the Brunswick and Western and the Alabama Midland, two of the lines comprised in the Plant system. Inquiries from New York as to holdings of bonds of those lines have been received, and some of the brokers have been instructed to buy. One of the brokers said that his order had come from the treasurer of the Plant Investment Company, to whom he delivered ten 4 per cent bonds of the Brunswick and Western. Another broker said that he had received several inquiries for Brunswick and Western and Alabama Midland, but the holdings in Savannah are small. The broker would not reveal the source from which the inquiries had been received, but he said no transfers had been made because the prospective buyers would not pay the prices that had been quoted. The lowest he could secure was 87 1-2, and that was too high. For Alabama Midland 5 per cents 103 is wanted.

All the lines now operated by the Plant system, it is understood, are now to be included in the consolidation by the Savannah, Florida and Western, save the Bone valley branch, the Thonatossassa branch, the Sanford and St. Petersburg, the St. Johns and Lake Eustis and the Sanford and Lake Eustis. Those that are included, it is said, are the Charleston and Savannah, the Brunswick and Western, the Alabama Midland, the Jacksonville, Tampa and Key West, the Florida Southern, the South Florida, the Silver Springs, Ocala and Gulf, the Green Pond, Walterboro and Branchville, the Abbeville Southern and the Southwestern Alabama.

There has been a great deal of talk about the Southern acquiring the Plant system, and some of the brokers, noting the activity in securities of lines comprised by the Plant system, have thought the Southern responsible. Such is not the case, however, and the consolidation of the Plant system properties is taken to mean that the Southern is not to seek to purchase the system.

ed them most royally. He readily consented to come to Atlanta, and the memory of that visit is still fresh in the minds of Atlantians.

"I am deeply grieved to learn of Governor Mount's death," Colonel Hemphill said last night. "I regarded him as a remarkable man in many ways. He was not only an admirable executive, but he was a man with a great big heart, and his death will be a great loss to his state and country."

During the war Governor Mount was in the front rank of the federal forces. He was one of the first men to cross the Chattahoochee with Sherman in the advance upon Atlanta. And yet Governor Mount has been one of the most urgent advocates of union and harmony to the exclusion of sectionalism. The return of the Texas flag was one of the many incidents which illustrates this feature of his character.

While in Atlanta last July Governor and Mrs. Mount were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Smith on Peachtree street.

Williams Dies of Injuries.

Savannah, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—George Williams, the colored man who was run over on the Central railroad last Friday about fourteen miles from the city and had a leg and arm cut off, died last night at the Georgia infirmary.

Profit To Be Kept in Gold.

Calcutta, January 16.—The government has accepted the Indian currency committee's proposal of 1898, providing that the profit on the coinage of rupees be kept in gold, as a special reserve, entirely separate from the paper currency reserve, or ordinary treasury balances. The new departure becomes effective in April.

Causes Are Suspicious.

Hull, England, January 16.—Three of the crew of the British steamer Friary, which sailed from Alexandria December 22d, via Algiers December 31st, for this port, have died since Friday. Two others are in the hospital. Plague is suspected.

Passengers Rescued.

Havana, January 16.—The passengers of the Ward line steamer Vigilancia, which went ashore Monday morning on the reefs of Los Colorados, about 100 miles west of this city, in a fog, have arrived here on the steamer Orizaba, which went to her assistance with two tugs and lighters. The wind has veered southward and there is no sea running. It is thought the vessel will be saved if the weather holds.

Confirmed by the Senate.

Washington, January 16.—The senate today confirmed the nomination of Asa Rogers, of Virginia, to be collector of internal revenue for the second district of Virginia.

Baggage Men's Convention.

St. Augustine, Fla., January 16.—The twenty-first annual convention of the American Association of General Baggage Agents opened here this afternoon, R. R. Bently presiding.

Blew Out His Brains.

Wathena, Kan., January 16.—J. F. Harpster, cashier of the Bank of Wathena, committed suicide today by shooting himself in the head. The Kansas state bank examiner arrived today to examine the accounts of the bank and soon afterward Harpster walked into an undertaking establishment and shot himself.

Will Withdraw.

Chicago, January 16.—"The Chicago, St. Louis, New Orleans, Latonia, Tan Foran, Memphis and Louisville tracks will withdraw from the present turf congress and organize a new body similar to the Eastern Jockey Club," said a prominent delegate to the session of the Turf congress held here today. "This will mean the dissolution of the present turf congress, the throwing out of the smaller southern tracks and the organization of a strong western body with a board of stewards that will be extremely powerful in turf matters."

Tillman's Bill.

Washington, January 16.—The bill of Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, giving the benefit of the bounty laws to soldiers who served in the confederate armies, but afterwards concluded their service in the north, was unanimously agreed to by the house committee on invalid pensions today. It affects a number of veterans who were peculiarly circumstanced, and those cases are considered meritorious.

Rebellious Moslem Tribes.

Paris, January 16.—According to advices from Dahomey, the Moslem tribes are openly preparing for rebellion. They refuse to recognize the sovereignty of King Toffa and the governor has been obliged to suspend his tour of the north country. He has asked for the recall of the functionary alleged to be responsible for the situation.

have been possible yesterday.

Dr. Charles J. Loffer, of New York city, who was called by the defense, said he had seen persons "knocked out" by absinthe.

Prosecutor Emley asked him the hypothecal question:

"If a person had died after taking absinthe and choral was found in the stomach, what would you say she died of?"

"From choral poison," was the reply.

Tomorrow the summing up will occur and probably the case will be left with the jury about rundown, although it may be that Judge Dixon will defer the charge to the jury until Friday.

ONLY ONE RACE CAN ATTEND.

Presbyterian School at Maryville in Perplexing Condition.

Knoxville, Tenn., January 16.—(Special.) The trustees of Maryville college, a Presbyterian institution, have before them a perplexing question. A meeting was begun today, the purpose of which is to decide, if possible, whether the college shall continue as an institution for both whites and colored students. A protest from the white students several months ago caused the synod to refer the matter to the trustees. This with the fact that a bill before the Tennessee legislature prohibiting co-education of races in Tennessee, caused the meeting, which will continue tomorrow. Only one plan is known to have been considered. That is, appropriate the $16,000 endowment given on condition of racial coeducation to some colored college that will assume the obligation. This may be recommended to the synod. Maryville college is the only institution in Tennessee taking white and colored students. It also has two Japanese.

RICHMOND WINS THE FIGHT.

Southern Bell Telephone Gives Up and Begs Pardon.

Richmond, Va., January 16.—(Special.)—The Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, which has been at war with the city for several years, has surrendered and in a petition to the council filed this evening by Manager Hunt Chipley asks for new rights in the city. The petition expresses regret at the circumstances which led to the long and bitter litigation and a desire to re-establish cordial relation with the city which will enable the company to establish a modern system and furnish first class local and long distance service. The company agrees to place the greater part of its wires underground and to have here a plant like that in Norfolk. The Richmond Telephone Company, which came into existence when the city fell out with the Bell people, will antagonize the petition and a lively telephone fight is in prospect.

SIX PRISONERS BREAK JAIL.

Sheriff Is Beaten Into Insensibility and Prisoners Escape.

Waynesboro, Ga., January 16.—(Special.) Six prisoners, four of whom are charged with murder, escaped from jail here this morning. When the jailer went to pay his morning call they took advantage of one of his unguarded moments, overpowered him and after taking his pistol from him beat him into insensibility and locked him up in their cell. Sheriff McElmurray, with posse and bloodhounds, was soon on the trail, which has been very exciting all day. When last heard from they still had the train and were reported to have been only a few minutes behind the fugitives. The jailer has recovered sufficiently to leave his room tonight.

The Leavenworth Tragedy.

The Leavenworth tragedy, coming so closely in the wake of the negro burning in Colorado, and with Akron, Pana and New York in the background, would indicate that the critics are not themselves above puncture when the time comes.

Whenever a negro is lynched in the south it is for but one crime, and his guilt is generally so well established as to leave no doubt behind it. This terrible form of punishment, it must also be recollected, is confined to rural districts, where the sparseness of the population brings the hearts of the people closer to each other. But in Leavenworth, a large city, with abundant protecting force, a negro whose guilt is not established is taken from the jail by a mob of 8,000 people, saturated in oil, and burned to death, all the while pleading his innocence. The case of Sam Hose fades into insignificance, since he was known to be guilty, and the details of his crime were such as crazed those who heard the story. The Kansas negro was far from being identified as the right man.

But there is a side to this growing tendency of northern injustice to the negro which must concern the people of the south. The negro, by no act of his own, is an inhabitant of this continent, and as such is entitled to the right to enjoy life. He may not merit promotion, but he certainly deserves justice. The people of the south understand his good points and his bad, and they make due allowance for his racial weakness. The consequence is that it is only in the south that the negro has ever advanced to the point of being a factor in business. The people of states bearing none of the burden have helped to make the negro discontented with his lot. They have held before him pictures of an impossible social condition, of which he is speedily disillusioned whenever he ventures among his advisers. In his effort to reach the ideal condition presented to him he has been shot to death in Illinois, mobbed and hanged in Ohio, horsewhipped and ordered to move in Indiana, run down like a wild beast in New York and treated with personal injustice everywhere. Rendered discontented by outside suggestion, he leaves his old home, to be driven back by the wall of prejudice which shuts him out from making a living, the negro is at once deceived by his alleged friends and placed at enmity with those who had been patient with him.

The south is anxious that this injustice should stop. She values the negro for what he is—a faithful worker and a cheerful inhabitant. The growing hostility in certain states compresses the negro back into his original home, and even there they reach out to inflame him against his friends. The south would keep the negro in his place, but would not be unjust to him. Bleeding Kansas, the home of John Brown, it seems, would burn him at the stake, guilty or innocent. Truly, the situation is a sad one.

The Marshall Centennial.

The coming centennial of the nomination of John Marshall as chief justice of the supreme court of the United States brings out the fact that Virginia was equally interested in the two schools of politics by which the young republic was torn, and that in the final triumph of Hamiltonianism, if the present supreme court upholds the administration contention about the occupation of foreign territory, Virginia has just as essentially won the victory as if she had been successful in the war of secession.

To John Marshall belongs the credit of having built up and sustained national predominance over the state, and of having asserted the right of the supreme court to pass upon the acts of the president himself. The democratic party of the United States had won the great campaign of 1800 by the election of Thomas Jefferson, of Virginia, to the presidency. So great and overwhelming was the triumph, and so dazzling the reputation of the author of the declaration of independence, that one of the last nominations of President Adams—that of John Marshall to the chief justiceship—was not fully appreciated. Yet in that one act Adams stretched out his hand into the future for thirty-five years, and through the machinery of the court, held in check or explained away the efforts of politics. One administration after another wore itself out in political campaigns, while quietly the man at the head of the supreme court nullified every step. If there was an undoubted claim of the state, the chief justice found some argument by which he could make it correspond with the joint claim of the federal government for participation. So evenly did the chief justice keep in view the principle of building up the central government, while finding sufficient playground for the state, that a democratic publication, shortly after the death of Mr. Marshall, in 1835, said:

Nearly every state of the union in turn had been brought up for sentence: Georgia, New Jersey, Virginia, New Hampshire, Vermont, Louisiana, Missouri, Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York, Massachusetts, South Carolina, Delaware (just escaped over Blackbird creek), all passed through the Caudine forks of a subjugation which has more than revived this quantity of spites. Beginning with Madison's case, there are nearly forty of these political fulminations from 1803 to 1834, viz: one each in 1806, 1812 and 1813, two in 1815, one in 1816, four in 1819, three in 1820, two in 1821, two in 1823, two in 1824, one in 1825, four in 1827, five in 1829, three in 1830, two in 1832, two in 1833 and one in 1834.

It will be observed from the defendant states named that the great Virginian held with equal hand the lash of authority over states far north, in the middle and the west as well as those of the south. Massachusetts was just as restive against federal authority as South Carolina, and the then far west state of Missouri had to sit on the defendant bench with Maryland.

At the end of the century there will be general discussion of the part played by the two sons of Virginia—Jefferson and Marshall—who had been thus pitted against each other. The natural alignment of Jefferson today would be democratic, while that of Marshall would be republican. The author of the great declaration accomplished a great work, notwithstanding the curbing influence of Marshall, while the decisions of the latter would have lost strength had it not been for the able agitation of the other. At this distance we should be able to judge of the work of both men with the impartiality that belongs to history. Both were equally great, the one in the assertion of human rights, the other in the judicial ascertainment of them. In his zeal, Jefferson was often led into denunciation of the courts, because they seemed to stand in the way of the people—he was not unmindful of law, but of the interference of its machinery with the speedy culmination of policies decided upon by the people. Jefferson called for the mass meeting to act; Marshall would adjourn the meeting to assemble again under cooler circumstances. Jefferson asserted the rights of man, connecting them with the rights of the state. Marshall left Jefferson's plea for manhood intact, but composed the relationship of state and nation, so that each might live. The ideas of both men, entering into the history of the country, have made a perfect whole, and no attempt should be made by either democrat or republican of today to turn the contest to party advantage, since it should be remembered that both men were greater than party, and neither would submit to party dictation.

We can afford, therefore, to honor Marshall at the same time that we revere Jefferson, for both men had at heart the same great cause—that of the preservation of human liberty.

The Pot and the Kettle.

"Impracticable Senator Hoar" is what The Chicago Times-Herald dubs the gentleman from Massachusetts. And for this reason:

We should admire Senator Hoar's loyalty to principles more if it were accompanied by an equally obstinate loyalty to facts. It is absurd today to speak as if there were a native Filipino government, and as if American authority on the islands was confined to a few ports. When Mr. Hoar advances this hypothesis he impugns the veracity of the American military officials and of the thoroughly reputable commission headed by Judge Taft. And upon what evidence does he do this? Upon such as is furnished apparently by his own imagination, and by the testimony of a lot of irresponsible vagrants who seem themselves to belong to the realms of imagination. Their names certainly are quite as mysterious as the names in a fairy tale and carry conviction no further. The senator, in truth, seems to be all that is impracticable.

We regret that brethren should disagree to the extent of calling each other names, but we are forced to come to the defense of the venerable statesman from Massachusetts.

It must be admitted that The Times-Herald is "practical." In its issue of March 4, 1900, it declared that every man who helped the Porto Rican bill should be left at home. True to its practical turn of mind, The Times-Herald repented in time to vote at the polls for the very men it had denounced.

Senator Hoar delivered a speech in the senate lauding Aguinaldo as the George Washington of the Philippines and denouncing the men guilty of criminal aggression upon them as traitor to the constitution. But Senator Hoar, like The Times-Herald, repented in time and voted for the very men whom he had characterized as traitors.

Senator Hoar, equally with The Times-Herald, was practical when the emergency came. Therefore the charge of impracticability is unjust.

Working Up a Passion.

The dull days of a year in which there is to be no election must be enlivened in some way, and Brooklyn has inaugurated the season by an anti-vice crusade.

At a gathering of those interested, one of those present being Bishop Potter, Mr. Baldwin, chairman of the committee of fifteen, came dangerously close to the line of Judge Lynch when he said:

I suppose there are men here who would kill the man who harmed their children. I would kill the man who sought to pollute mine. It is more your duty—or as much—to care for the children of the defenseless poor. It is your responsibility.

Nothing but the absence of a rope was needed to complete the enthusiasm with which this statement was greeted. It was quite evident, however, that there were other classes of criminals than the ones alluded to who would have felt the vengeance of the gathering had they been present, for Mr. Henry George threw in the suggestion that "the people are being robbed by the rich who own the lands and by the holders of public franchises. These are the robbers; they form the criminal class which we must reach if we are to get at the bottom of vice and crime in New York." Bishop Potter declared himself against mere suppression. "To make forms of vice in public exhibition," said the bishop, "less insolent, less indecent—that is one thing. The moment you go beyond that there is not a man in this room who does not know as well as I do that mere suppression is not essential reformation. We may have Pharisaism; we ought to have virtue, which is quite another thing."

There is apparently a hot time brewing for somebody.

Pennsylvania's Democratic Leader.

The democratic legislators of Pennsylvania, in making Colonel James M. Guffey their candidate for the United States senate, have emphasized his leadership of the party in that state.

The Times, in acknowledging the effect of this honor, says that "Colonel Guffey is the acknowledged democratic leader in Pennsylvania, and those who lead deserve public recognition. This is pre-eminently true of Mr. Guffey, whose leadership has been of the most unselfish kind. He has worked without stint for the advancement of others rather than himself, and he has always labored to lead his party to creditable action."

In the discomfiture which republican leadership has met in Pennsylvania, the democrats have excellent prospects for the future. They can appeal to the conservatism of the state with confidence, and be in a position to do field work in the future.

The Attack on Mr. Bailey.

The groundlessness of the attack upon the integrity of Hon. Joseph W. Bailey is shown by the unwillingness of the prosecutor to face the music for the purpose of making his charges good. The plain intent was to becloud the issue pending the senatorial campaign for the purpose of compassing Mr. Bailey's defeat.

There was no belief in the truth of such charges from the first. Mr. Bailey's public record has been strong enough to make his fame secure against the threats of anonymity. But when a member of the legislature, for some reason, undertook to father the charges, Mr. Bailey promptly met the issue by his call for investigation. At the appointed time the witness is conveniently ill. As the election of senator is but a few days off, the game was to keep the charges pending for their possible effect thereon.

The Texas legislature will show its confidence in Mr. Bailey by a splendid vote. Still it is a pity there is not some way to push assassins of character to the wall, so that they would never again resort to such ignoble work.

The Defeat of Chandler.

The defeat of Senator Chandler has so taken that statesman by surprise that now, for the first time, he has recovered breath enough to give a reason for it.

The senator declares that he has incurred the hostility of the railroads, which united to have him dropped from the senatorial roll. Just why they should have united against him he does not say, but it is more than likely that the true reason is that the people had grown tired and wanted a change. Senator Chandler had been threshing old straw so long that the people of New Hampshire decided upon the use of a new flail.

As Judge Burnham had 198 of the 320 votes cast and Chandler only 47, he should have been aware of the coming verdict.

The Vanderbilt Wedding.

The simple elegance by which the Vanderbilt-French nuptials was surrounded so differentiates it from the displays of Bradley-Martin type as to be noticeable.

The kindly interest with which the affair has been followed by the people shows that human nature is the same everywhere when an appeal is made to it. A sensible young man marrying the girl of his choice and seeking the quiet of home and friends is at no disadvantage because he is many times a millionaire.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt has begun well.

Mr. A. H. Shaver announces that he has disposed of The Dalton Argus, with which paper he has been so long identified that his connection with any other newspaper property will seem unusual to the newspaper men of Georgia. Mr. Shaver sold The Argus at a handsome profit and is ready to enter the business elsewhere if an advantageous offer is presented. He has been in the newspaper business for twenty-five years, having had charge of several weeklies and filled every position from "devil" to editor in chief. His remarkable success with The Argus, which is one of the strongest weekly newspapers of Georgia, bears striking testimonial to his ability as an organizer and manager. The Constitution wishes Mr. Shaver success in his new field, wherever it may be, and feels confident that it will not be long before he is in charge of another influential weekly newspaper.

His grace of Newcastle threatens the peace of Florida fish, while the duchess is the patroness of a dog show "at home."

The Philadelphia Press should take a day off to become acquainted with the republicanism of Pennsylvania.

Mark Hanna should leave the Georgia senators alone. They have a habit of hitting back.

Pettigrew may not have long to stay, but he is making the most of it.

The friends of West Point practices have reached the hissing stage.

The torch gleams brightly in Bleeding Kansas.

Teachers Table Resolution.

Nashville, Tenn., January 16.—(Special.) The State Public School Officers' Association today by a vote of 44 to 13 tabled a resolution asking the legislature to extend the provisions of the four mile law to towns under 5,000 population. It was the sentiment that the association should not take under consideration legislation of this character.

JUST FROM GEORGIA.

Beyond the Veil.

I cannot see thy face, or clasp thy hand,
Or hold sweet converse with thee, as of old;
Thou are beyond the stars so white and cold—
A dreamer in some far and unknown land.
Over a little dust in tears I stand—
The flower that knew thy kisses last I fold
Close to my heart, and kiss one lock of gold,
Once on thy forehead by the southwinds fanned.

Sad winds, that only murmur o'er a mound,
Sown thick with daisies . . . Is this all of love
That made the whole world beautiful, and crowned
Life with a glory like to that above?
All—all of Love—its beauty and its beams,
Lies at my feet now—daisies, dust and dreams!

His History.

A correspondent, writing from Brenham, Texas, sends us the following:

"I was born in the state of Georgia,
As happy as could be;
Lived some in Alabama,
Likewise in Tennessee.
Also, in Arkansaw I lived
For years that numbered seven;
May all our sins the Lord forgive
And take us all to heaven!"

Our correspondent was determined to rhyme. "Sometimes kings are not more imperative than rhymes."

A Song of Her Love.

(Words by Frank L. Stanton, Music by Alice Upton, London, England.)

I.

There was never a star in the dark o' the night,
In the skies that were bending above me,
And never a lily that leaned to the light
'Till the Lord sent a woman to love me.
For all of the beauty of stars and of skies
I found in the light of a woman's dear eyes.

II.

Then springtime kissed all of the winter away,
And the bloom and the bright were above me;
A star for the night and a sun for the day,
When the Lord sent a woman to love me.
And earth seemed as fair as the heaven above,
For just the sweet sake of a woman's dear love!

In its review of James Whitcomb Riley's "Home Folks," Public Opinion speaks in high terms of his sonnet on the late Henry W. Grady. It refers to it as his best work in that line—a sonnet of "quiet dignity."

In a Book of Songs.

Here is life, and—well-a-day!
All the bells are ringing;
Winter? Nay! these songs are May—
Songs of Helen's singing.
Sure, no songs of sweeter note
Ever thrilled a thrush's throat!

Here the songs of birds—the bees
Hum in tangles mazy;
Winds wave tresses of the trees,
Dewdrops find a daisy.
Sure, in ways where sorrows throng
They will set the world to song!

One "Hoosier Peggie," of Logan, Ind., has appropriated the poem, "The Old School Exhibitions," which originally appeared in this column:

"Oh, the old school exhibitions will they ever come again?
With the good old-fashion speaking from the girls and boys so plain.
Will we ever hear Old Iser, with its rapid roll and sweep,
And Pilot, 'tis a fearful night, there is danger on the deep?"

Miss Peggie has merely added a concluding stanza of her own sweet composition.

The Dark Days.

When the dark days come along,
Sigh not;—there is still a song
Over sorrow and despair—
There is still a song somewhere!

One of the latest novels is called "An Angel in Love." We were under the impression there was a good deal of happiness in heaven?

* * * * *

A Happy Brother.

He wuz allus a-sayin' it's all fer the best,
No matter what fortune wuz bringin';
He kept back the sigh—
Wiped the tear from his eye
An' went on his pathway a-singin'.

No matter the clouds that were thick in the sky,
He still heard the sweet bells a-ringin';
"Though the rainbows are furled,
There is hope in the world"—
Singin', an' singin', an' singin'!

And a beautiful light seemed to shine in the night,
And flowers with the red thorns were springin';
He did jest his best,
Trustin' God fer the rest,
An' cheered the wide world with his singin'!

Of Riley's Home Folks.

In a review of James Whitcomb Riley's "Home-Folks," Public Opinion says:

"We soon find, to our disappointment, that there was never less in a name than in this present instance. In the initial poem there is a touch of the same homeloving sentiment, but compared with that of the earlier work it seems strained and unnatural. We look in vain in this and, in fact, in all of the dialect poems, for those springs of mirth and pathos that used to bubble up in unexpected places, and for those delicate fancies that wore even the homely garb of Hoosier speech gracefully."

As a matter of fact, there is fine work in "Home-Folks"—work outside Mr. Riley's characteristic view. There is what some critics are pleased to call "serious work"—that is, work in pure English, as the ode on the death of General Lawton, the sonnet on Henry W. Grady, and others in that loftier line. And he does justice to himself and his theme in all.

Already the pot-boiler writers have seized upon the kidnaping craze. The latest thrilling story is entitled: "Loved in New York and Kidnaped in Chicago!"

Along the Way.

Along the way, by night and day,
Are clouds that gather o'er us;
But let the skies be blue or gray,
The bright hills are before us!

And what if night, with gloom and blight
Should give a ghostly warning?
Beyond is peace: The storms will cease
Where shine the hills of morning!

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Hon. J. W. Bailey, of Texas.

Editor Constitution—As a constant reader of your great paper, I notice that the political enemies of the Hon. J. W. Bailey, of Texas, are still pursuing that able and distinguished gentleman and are going so far as "to investigate him" in regard to certain corporate interests that are doing business in Texas contrary to the anti-trust law. Some people never know when they are whipped, and Bailey's political enemies belong to this class. As a personal and political friend since we met at the law school at Lebanon, Tenn., in 1883, I wish to say a few words through the columns of your great paper in reply to any charges that may be preferred against Joe Bailey from any source. To question his honor or integrity would be like questioning the virtue of an angel, for no purer, truer, greater or grander man lives today on this earth.

Born in the small county of Copiah, Miss., on October 6, 1863, he graduated at the Lebanon law school, at Lebanon, Tenn., in June, 1883, so at the age of twenty years he commenced the practice of law at Hazlehurst, Copiah county, Miss., and in 1884 was made presidential elector on the Cleveland and Hendricks ticket in the Jackson district. In 1885 he removed to Gainesville, Texas, and in 1888 was made presidential elector from the state at large. In 1890 he was elected to congress from the fifth district, defeating Judge Silas Hare, one of the ablest and most popular men at that time in Texas, and has been five times elected to the lower house of congress, serving ten years in that body, being the democratic leader in the last congress and declining the leadership of this congress, as he aspired to the United States senate. Declining a re-election to the house, he announced himself a candidate for United States senator to succeed Senator Horace Chilton, a native Texan and one of the purest and ablest men not only in Texas, but in the United States senate. Primary elections were held in the various counties of Texas for senator. Governor James S. Hogg took the stump for his friend Chilton. Even the combined influence of these two great Texans—one a popular governor and the other a popular senator—could not stem the Bailey tide. With nothing but his own personal worth and eloquence he went before the people of Texas and swept the state. Like a cyclone, county after county went for Bailey, and after carrying, by a large majority, Travis county, in which Austin, the capital, is located, after a personal canvass by Governor Hogg for Senator Chilton, Mr. Chilton withdrew and left a clear field for Bailey.

After being the unanimous choice of the people of the state for senator, now comes a Mr. McFall, who wants to "investigate him," which, no doubt, means that Mr. McFall would like to fall into the United States senate himself or land some other dark horse. He had better investigate the angel Gabriel at once and let Bailey alone. It would amount to the same. If you should do me the honor, Mr. Editor, to publish these personal allusions to my friend Joe Bailey, by the time it appears in print Bailey will be a United States senator, and it can be truthfully said of him as was said of Prentiss and Clay, "Old men bless him, children reverence him, the lovely come out to look upon him and the learned deck their halls to greet him."

The late Judge W. S. Holman, of Indiana, then a member of congress, while riding to the capital one day on an "F" street car, told me that "he expected Bailey to reach the presidency, and that he would make a grand president." May his prediction prove true is the sincerest wish of his friends in Florida.

TALKS ABOUT ATLANTA.

Columbus, Ga., Enquirer-Sun: Atlanta is working her kidnaping sensation for all it is worth.

Albany, Ga., Herald: Atlanta hasn't yet had a student of one of her schools to die from the effects of hazing. But give her time.

Augusta, Ga. Herald: Atlanta as usual keeps up with the procession, and, with much eclat, reports an abduction. The alleged victim was a child nineteen years old.

Cartersville, Ga., News: Here's to Mayor Mims, of Atlanta. May his shadow never grow less than the prosperity of the Gate City under his administration.

Covington, Ga., Star: An Atlanta paper is now kicking because no one has yet discovered the inimitable Pat Crowe in that city. But then, they will later.

Griffin, Ga., Call: Atlanta has surely had a real kidnaping, and her great papers are endeavoring to outdo the Cudahy affair. And if it is left with them the job will be done all right.

Columbus, Ga., Enquirer-Sun: Atlanta is still dreaming of a river route down the Chattahoochee to the gulf. Time spent in devising ways and means for a new depot would be better invested.

Valdosta, Ga., Sun: A woman has sued the Atlanta street railway for $1,000 damages, because a fat man sat in her lap on the car the other day. The curiously inclined may want to know what the damages would have been if a lean man had sat in her lap.

Thomasville, Ga., Enterprise: Atlanta, after all, will probably not need the new union passenger station. The air ship will likely put in an appearance before it is built, and then there would be little or no use for it, so it would be economy and save a lot of money to wait for the air ship.

Ellijay, Ga., Times: Trying to secure a new passenger station in Atlanta is having the same progress as is perpetual motion. It is just a little ahead, but not within view. As a matter of convenience and economy we would suggest (if the city can agree) they purchase some gangway planks for the landing or unloading of passengers at the edge of town.

Albany, Ga., Herald: It seems now that Atlanta's kidnaping sensation, the disappearance of Bass Frazer, the Technological school student, is not a kidnaping case after all. Young Frazer, it appears, had confessed to one of the instructors of being guilty of cheating and was about to be expelled from the school. The detectives have abandoned the kidnaping theory entirely and now believe that the young man has gone off on a wild trip and had the kidnaping letter written to his parents to cover up his tracks. It is also hinted that there is a woman in the case. The new story makes an ideal sensation for the Atlanta newspapers, but it leaves Atlanta without a case of kidnaping.

ST. AUGUSTINE SEASON OPENS.

Signal Gun Is Followed by National Airs from the Band.

St. Augustine, Fla., January 16.—(Special.)—Ponce de Leon was opened for the fourteenth season this afternoon with the usual annual festivities. Crowds representing many cities of the United States and abroad were admitted at the signal gun and marched throughout the hotel palace to the strains of patriotic music. Tonight Manager Robert Murray gave an opening dinner to many distinguished people. Lieutenant General and Mrs. Schofield, General W. H. Wherry, United States attorney; Duke of New Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Harmsworth, London, England; Countess Montejoye, of Cairo, and 200 others of social and commercial distinction. The vestibule trains from New York and western cities brought crowds of tourists.

NO SECRETARY OF STATE YET.

Tennessee Democrats Unable To Select a Nominee.

Nashville, Tenn., January 16.—(Special.) Interest in the race for secretary of state seemed to be at a low ebb today as several members were absent from the democratic caucus adjourned until tomorrow, the last ballot giving John W. Morton, 25; W. S. Morgan, 24, and the four candidates practically unchanged. The absentees were supporters of the leaders. Goodloe received 14; Brown 13; Odum 11, and Moses 7.

THE PASSING THRONG.

"Did you notice that woman who just went out?" asked a clerk in a leading drug store of a Constitution reporter recently.

"Yes," was the reply, "and a very pretty woman she was, too."

"Oh, as for that," said the clerk, "she's pretty, all right, but did you notice what she bought?"

"Not particularly, but I thought it was perfume."

"Exactly," replied the clerk, "but what is singular about the article purchased is that it was not bought for perfuming purposes. What do you reckon she does with it?"

"Takes it internally?" ventured the reporter.

"You guessed it," said the clerk. "You newspaper fellows are onto humanity's curves, all right. That woman buys more cologne at this store than any other half dozen customers."

"Is she a fiend?" was asked.

"She is not far from a drunkard. A person with a cologne jag on is not drunk as the proverbial 'blied owl,' but only intoxicated to the point of exhilaration. Among her friends this lady is noted for her extreme vivacity and effervescence of spirits. Sometimes she causes mild surprise by being almost hysterically silly, but I reckon nobody suspects the truth. As a matter of fact, she is 'jagged.'

"She buys from one to two dozen of those slim bottles of cologne every week, and she consumes it entirely herself."

"How does she take it."

"On lumps of loaf sugar; at least, I suppose she does, for that is the usual custom of cologne takers. They saturate a number of lumps of sugar with the pleasant smelling fluid and carry them about with them. When, as is the case with whisky drunkards, they feel as if they needed a drink, they will take one or two lumps of sugar, and, letting it dissolve in the mouth, they will get a sort of an imitation of perfumed whisky and sugar and water. You know, of course, that the base of the cologne is alcohol, and for most people alcohol is altogether too strong to be taken raw, and this is one of the reasons why sugar is used.

"Another reason, I reckon, is because it is easier to carry about, and can be taken without detection when on the little cubes of sugar. Some cologne tipplers—and there are more than you would imagine among women of fashion—can drink their liquid raw, and those who have arrived at that stage can drink pure alcohol, or almost anything else, except, perhaps, sulphuric or some kindred acid.

"Some women get the appetite by beginning to hit the cologne bottle gently for the purpose of increasing the luster of their eyes and the glow of their cheeks. When the habit, however acquired, is fastened on one, it is as hard to shake off as the liquor habit, and expensive, as you would imagine."

"But," queried the reporter, "why don't they be economical and buy straight alcohol?"

"Because," said the drug clerk, laughingly, "they are stuck on the peculiar cologne flavor, and most of them have husbands who are able to buy the stuff for them."

"Yes, they nearly all come back to Georgia," said a railroad man at the Kimball yesterday. He was speaking of the heavy holiday travel and the number of people who had been returning from Texas, Arkansas and other western states to visit the friends and relatives in Georgia.

"I have been here in Atlanta for years," he continued, "and during that period I have furnished transportation for thousands of Georgians who had tired of the old state and had resolved to see what they could win from fortune in the west. But they all, or nearly all, come back. I don't mean that they come back to stay, but when the holidays come they take advantage of the low rates made by the railroads to pay their old Georgia homes a visit.

"This season the travel has been unusually heavy—hundreds having come from the west to visit their Georgia relatives—which indicates that times are prosperous and that the Georgians who have made their homes in far states are ahead of the game.

"In my time I have seen some pathetic incidents growing out of this holiday home coming. About Christmas a man who went to Texas years ago passed through Atlanta to visit his mother who is still living at the old homestead in one of the middle Georgia counties. He has prospered in Texas and told me when he passed through that he intended to take his mother with him when he returned. He reached here yesterday returning to Texas and his mother was with him. But she wouldn't accompany her son any farther. It was evident that she was heartbroken at the thought of leaving the old home, so intimately connected with the joys and sorrows of her life, and when she reached Atlanta she told her son that she could go no farther, but must go back to the home where her husband and other children were buried. He loved her were buried. She loved her son and wanted to go with him, but the memories of the past were more powerful with her than the hopes of the future and so her son accompanied her back to the old homestead where she will probably pass away before the next holiday season rolls around."

"Florida politics is generally full of surprises," said a Jacksonville man at the Aragon yesterday, "but the queerest thing that ever happened down there was in connection with the nomination of Hon. Francis P. Fleming for governor some years ago. As a matter of fact, it is said that he won the nomination by mistake—the delegates thinking that they were voting for his brother, Colonel Louis I. Fleming.

"The Flemings are a prominent family in Florida and they are all good people. At the time of the gubernatorial race of which I am speaking, however, Colonel Louis Fleming was the head of the clan, as the Scotch say, and was really the only Fleming well known in Florida. Colonel Louis Fleming was not a candidate for governor, but his brother, Hon. Frank P. Fleming, was. The latter is a fine lawyer and a staunch democrat, but at that time was not very well known in Florida, at least not so well known as his brother. Frank Fleming's leading opponent was General Bullock, of Ocala—the old war horse of Marion, they call him. General Bullock was a brave confederate soldier, which was a strong point in his favor and his friends were also asking for support on the ground that he had ten handsome daughters and that the state ought to aid him to do the proper thing by the girls.

"It looked like General Bullock would win, when a rumor got abroad—I have never known where it originated—that Colonel Louis Fleming was the candidate for governor. That settled General Bullock's chances. County after county began to choose Fleming delegates and when the convention met at St. Augustine the Fleming men were jubilant. Nominations were made and Fleming won by a good majority.

"Hon. Frank Fleming had kept in the background up to this time, but when the vote was announced there were loud cheers for 'Fleming.' The Hon. Frank appeared on the stage to thank the delegates and dead silence reigned, which was finally broken by some cracker delegate shouting, 'Why, you ain't Lou Fleming. He's the man I thought I wuz voting for.' And they say that nine-tenths of the men who voted for Fleming thought the same way. But the Hon. Frank was equal to the emergency. He went on with his speech of thanks and made such a good one that by the time he concluded the hall was ringing with hurrahs and cries of 'any Fleming is good enough for us.'

"Well, Hon. Frank Fleming was elected governor and he made a good one—one of the best that Florida has ever had. He was above all the cliques into which the Florida democracy is divided and he refused to be used by any faction, but administered the executive office for the good of all the people. Ex-Governor Fleming is now a resident of Jacksonville. Colonel Louis Fleming died in the yellow fever epidemic and his memory is held in loving veneration by the people of Jacksonville. He literally laid down his life during the scourge in efforts to alleviate the condition of his fellows. And that is the acme of human love."

The "oldest inhabitant," who keeps a diary on the caprices of the seasons and goosebone meteorology, shook his prophet's beard sagely yesterday when asked what he thought about the open winter.

"I took a stroll out Peachtree street this morning," he said, "and what the balmy day made my old bones feel like and what my old eyes saw in the front yards, caused me to fear that nature had somehow slipped a cog. Why, sir, will you believe it, I actually saw roses in bloom in the open air—outdoor roses, mind you. The porch vines looked as if they were about to burst into verdant life, and if I didn't see a blue bird I'm no weather authority.

"You can say," continued the "oldest inhabitant," with impressive self confidence, "that I am getting shaky about the first year of the century's peach crop in Georgia. The peach tree in my backyard is putting out buds and if January keeps up its effort to reverse nature, a February blizzard will swoop down on us some night, and goodby peach blooms! This is the mildest January since the stars fell."

A man went into an Atlanta drug store yesterday and asked for half a dollar's worth of morphine. The man was well dressed, but was evidently drinking.

"What do you want with morphine?" asked the clerk.

"I want to kill myself," replied the man as nonchalantly as you please. "I have made up my mind to kill myself and have taken a room at the Kimball. As soon as I get the morphine I shall go to my room, take the poison, get on the bed and wait for the end."

The clerk has had some experience and he concluded that the man didn't want to die, so he said: "Se here, I'll let you have the morphine, all right, but on condition that you swallow it here in my presence. I have never seen a man die, and I would just like to watch you as the morphine gets in its work. More than that, I have a kodak and I'll take snap shots of you after you take the morphine up to the moment that you pass away. Here's the morphine. Now swallow it. I am anxious to see you die."

The would be suicide became sober in an instant. He looked at the clerk a moment, and blurted out: "D——n your bloodthirsty soul. There you are gloating over the thought of my death. I have a good mind to kill you."

Then he walked out perfectly sober, but fighting mad.

T. H. Booz, Jr., of El Paso, Tex., is a guest of the Kimball. Mr. Booz says that the people in his section of Texas take little stock in the charges that have been preferred against Joe Bailey. In recent years the young democrats of Texas have been coming to the front and winning the high offices. This has enraged the old crowd which used to run the state and out of this bitterness, Mr. Booz thinks, the charges against Bailey originated.

John C. Willys, of Birmingham, is stopping at the Aragon. Mr. Willys says it is rumored in Birmingham, and generally believed, that ex-Governor Johnston will go to New York to represent the Sloss-Sheffield Iron Company. The governor is said to be a large stockholder in the corporation, and he will have charge of its interest in the east, according to the rumors current at Birmingham.

Captain John F. Howard, of Barnesville, is a guest of the Kimball. Captain Howard was for years identified with the Georgia militia, but has recently retired. He commanded a company in one of the Georgia regiments raised during the Spanish-American war, and spent some months in Cuba.

J. B. Carlton, a prominent citizen of Tifton, is a guest of the Aragon.

T. H. McGough, of Forsyth, was in Atlanta yesterday stopping at the Kimball.

G. W. Felker, of Monroe, is at the Kimball.

S. W. Mison, of Sylvania, is a guest of the Aragon.

R. A. Gordon, of Griffin; M. K. Word, of Hogansville; E. T. Gentry, of Eastman; F. E. Fleming, of Augusta, and E. F. Lemmons, of Columbus, are at the Kimball.

GOES TO SAVE THE VIGILENCIA

Merritt Wrecking Will Try To Save Ward Liner.

Norfolk, Va., January 16.—(Special.)—The Merritt Wrecking Norfolk agency will immediately undertake the perilous and immensely profitable salving of the Ward line steamship Vigilencia, which went ashore Monday night off Los Colorados, Cuba. The wreck lies 100 miles west of Havana and the great wrecking tug Rescue, now ready to ship to the scene, will earn a tremendous sum, if successful.

Cotton Growers Meet in Raleigh.

Raleigh, N. C., January 16.—(Special.)—North Carolina Cotton Growers' Protective Association met here today, William A. Graham, presiding; it appointed General William R. Cox, John P. Allison, and Benham Cameron to represent this state at a meeting of the executive committee at Atlanta. It discussed the best method of holding cotton.

Tobacco Growers in Session.

Raleigh, N. C., January 16.—(Special.)—State Tobacco Growers' Association met here today and prepared memorial to congress asking reduction of tobacco tax.

ADMIRAL WATSON TO VISIT CITY

Will Come with Y. M. C. A. Committee February 1.

MEETING OF GREAT INTEREST

Annual Banquet of This Distinguished Body Will Be Held in the South for the First Time Since Its Organization.

Admiral John C. Watson, of the United States navy, will be Atlanta's guest on February 1st, and will remain in the city for several days.

The occasion of Admiral Watson's visit will be the annual banquet of the international committee of the Young Men's Christian association, which takes place in Atlanta on that date. Aside from Admiral Watson's presence, which fact is of considerable interest in itself, the banquet of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. is of significance. Heretofore these banquets have been held in the larger cities, such as New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and St. Louis. This is the first time that a southern city has been chosen, and the selection of Atlanta is in the nature of an honor.

ADMIRAL JOHN C. WATSON, The Distinguished Naval Officer Who Comes to Atlanta as a Member of the International Young Men's Christian Association Committee.

The international committee of the Y. M. C. A. is one of the most influential religious bodies in the world. It has general direction of the work of the association in this and foreign lands, and its sphere of influence touches every civilized country. In addition to Admiral Watson, some of the conspicuous men to attend will be Dr. Lucian Warner and Richard Morse, both Y. M. C. A. leaders of prominence.

The occasion is expected to bring to Atlanta some of the most prominent church workers in this and other states, and it is confidently anticipated that the amount of good accruing from the meeting will equal the stimulus given the association by the convention held in Atlanta in 1885, when the enthusiasm made itself felt in all parts of the country. The purpose of the banquet is the discussion and presentation of the "world's work," which means the various departments of the Y. M. C. A. in all lands.

Admiral Watson, in addition to being one of the most prominent officers in the navy, is one of the most potent influences in the affairs of the association. Through his interest the Y. M. C. A. at present has a strong hold on the navy, and has been the means of doing a vast amount of good.

During the stay of the committeemen in the city they will be shown every attention. The committee on reception is composed of the following members, who are requested to meet this afternoon to arrange plans for the entertainment of the guests: W. W. White, E. H. Thornton, E. H. Frazer, W. L. Peel, Captain E. S. Gay, Mayor Livingston Mims, Governor Allen D. Candler, J. F. Beck, C. D. Montgomery, T. J. Paxon, W. S. Witham and Captain J. W. English.

DIRECTORS MEET TODAY.

Y. M. C. A. Board Will Re-elect E. H. Thornton President.

The board of directors of the Young Men's Christian Association meets this afternoon at 4 o'clock for the purpose of electing officers and of discussing the outlook in every department of the institution for the new year.

An important subject to which the board will give its attention is that of new quarters for the association. The question of a new building has been agitated by the members of the association for several weeks, and in view of the fact that the association is now entirely out of debt, many look forward to a new building in the near future that will give ample room to every department of the institution.

At the meeting today it is practically certain that President E. H. Thornton will be re-elected, in which event that capable officer will accept the election.

PAYING FREIGHT.

On a carriage is expensive. When buying our Atlanta made vehicles, this freight is saved.

MAYOR MIMS GIVES HIS LAST CENT TO HELP NEEDY ONES

MAYOR MIMS yesterday proved beyond a doubt that he is the possessor of a warm heart, full of sympathy for those in distress, by giving all the change he had with him to a poor woman and her daughter, who, according to their own story, count themselves among the large number of unfortunate foreigners in this country.

Mrs. Antionette Gavenda and her daughter, Antionette, called on the mayor yesterday to ask for assistance in reaching Baltimore, their old home. The Gavendas are Austrians, and the family in Atlanta numbers four—the mother, two daughters and a son. They came here from Biloxi, Miss., and their last dollar was spent for transportation from that place to Atlanta.

City License Inspector Hunter was appealed to, and he reported that the city might be able to get the family as far north as Gainesville, but Mrs. Gavenda, when she learned that the town was not a large one, asked to be assisted to some city where she and her children could secure work that would support them.

Mrs. Gavenda, who speaks but little English, is a handsome looking woman, with jet black hair and eyes. The daughter, Antoinette, is a prepossessing miss of about fifteen, and converses in English with hardly the trace of an accent. She acted as interpreter. Mrs. Gavenda told the mayor that her husband was in Baltimore, and had sent the family to Mississippi with the understanding that he would follow in a short time.

Some weeks ago, she said, she received a letter from her husband, in which he stated the family need not expect him, as he thought of marrying again. While in Biloxi the two girls and the mother secured work in an oyster cannery, while the boy found employment on one of the boats.

Mrs. Gavenda said that one of the men in authority at the cannery had forced his attentions upon the eldest girl, and when she repulsed him, he had them all discharged. It was to escape him, said the mother, that she and the others had started home. They came here from Montgomery, and went to a hotel for the night.

The mayor was visably affected at the recital of this story. Immediately he drew a handful of coin from his pocket and offered it to the two women.

"I should only be too glad to help you, madam," said he. "This is all the money I have with me, but if it will assist you in your distress you are more than welcome to it."

The girl took the money, and, falling on her knees before the mayor with tears streaming down her cheeks, repeatedly kissed the hand of the city's chief executive until he hastily drew it away. Mrs. Gavenda and her daughter were almost hysterical, and the mayor appeared evidently ill at ease.

He called the city license inspector in and asked if it would not be possible for him to ascertain if there was not some work in the city that the family could get in order to support them until they were able to secure transportation to Baltimore. Mr. Hunter stated he would do what he could to find out if there was any work to be had.

It is expected that if the Gavendas are unable to find employment, a collection will be taken up to defray their expenses to the north. Mrs. Gavenda intimated that if she ever reached Baltimore she would call her husband to account for his threat to abandon her and the children.

ARCHBISHOP MARTINELLI ENTERTAINED AT DINNER

Although he does not come heralded, Monsignor Martinelli will have no occasion to complain of any lack of hospitality being extended him in Atlanta.

Yesterday he visited various points of interest about the city, in company with Bishop Keiley, inspecting both churches, the two convents of the city and St. Joseph's infirmary, with which he was particularly pleased. At 1 o'clock he and Bishop Keiley were the guests of honor at an elaborate dinner given at the rectory by Rev. Father Bazin, who was assisted in the entertainment of the guests by Rev. Father Schadewell. An elegant dinner of twelve courses was served, and around the table, which was beautiful in its decorations of white hyacinths and American Beauties, were gathered twenty-two guests, including several prominent Protestant gentlemen.

His excellency, the archbishop, sat at the head of the table, with the bishop of Georgia and Rev. Father Bazin on either side; next them were the local priests, Fathers Schadewell, Gunn, Reis, Guinan and Colbert, and, in order, Clark Howell, Dr. R. D. Spalding, Major John Mecaslin, R. E. O'Donnelley, John Morris, J. J. Haverty, Thomas F. Corrigan, Charles I. Ryan, John Lynch, W. B. Manning, John E. Murphy, W. G. Cooper, H. H. Cabaniss and M. Mahoney.

At the end of the dinner, an appropriate toast was proposed, on the part of the guests, by Clark Howell, and responded to in a happy vein by Bishop Keiley, in behalf of the archbishop.

His excellency is delighted with Atlanta, and says it is the chief city of the south. He expressed himself as much pleased with the condition in which he finds the church property in the south and the increase and fervor of the faithful. His last trip, four years ago, was a very hurried one, and he was only permitted a casual glimpse of the chief cities of the south. He has made great progress in English since his former visit, and is now capable of quite fluent use of the language. He positively declines, however, to say anything concerning ecclesiastical matters or the probable successor of the reigning pontiff.

Today at noon he will be entertained informally at the residence of Dr. Gunn, and tonight he and Bishop Keiley will be the guests at an elaborate dinner to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Payne in their honor.

His excellency leaves Saturday at noon for Washington. Bishop Keiley will probably remain over for the celebration of Lee's birthday, he having been requested to deliver an address at the banquet Saturday evening of the Virginia Society, of which he was an enthusiastic member during his residence in Atlanta.

POLITICAL POINT OF VIEW AT THE STATE CAPITOL

In some of the schools up in northern New York, it appears, they are teaching that there was no such man as General John B. Gordon, of the confederate army, afterwards governor of Georgia, and twice senator from his state; or, what amounts to the same thing, they are teaching histories which entirely ignore his existence. A letter was received yesterday in the office of the secretary of state from a Mrs. David Firman, of Warsaw, Syracuse county, New York, in which she states that a question had arisen in the village as to the existence of such a character, and she seeks information.

It appears that the school teacher, who is evidently rather more progressive than the section in which she is employed, informed her young charges that there was a General John B. Gordon in the confederate service, and that he was afterwards governor of Georgia. She, at least, was aware of the existence of the "Man of the 12th of May." But the teacher soon found herself in trouble. The history from which her scholars gleaned their daily lessons about this great country said nothing about any such man; therefore, for them at least, he did not exist. They disputed her assertion, and in order to back up their case they went to Mrs. Firman, who, it appears from her letter, is looked upon somewhat as a village oracle. She took the position of the pupils. No history she had ever read mentioned John B. Gordon, so there could be no such man.

Not satisfied in her own mind, however, she wrote to the secretary of state to settle that disputed point in Warsaw. Perhaps she wanted to score a point against the teacher, and what a convincing argument a denial of the teacher's assertion from the secretary of state would be! Fortunately, however, Secretary Cook is better posted on Georgia history than Mrs. Firman, of Warsaw, and doubtless there will be wonder there when the reply to her letter is sent. Warsaw should have a bonfire made out of school histories. Verily, Warsaw has a great deal to learn.

State School Commissioner Glenn yesterday mailed checks for $434,000 to the county school commissioners and boards of education throughout the state, and there is still $150,000 more to be sent. Treasurer Park yesterday issued checks for all the warrants that had been sent him on account of the schools, so that the majority of the teachers will receive the balance of the money due them on last year within the next few days.

The largest check issued yesterday was drawn in favor of the board of education of Atlanta and was for $15,868.88. The next largest was drawn in favor of the board of Chatham county for $14,922.76, Richmond county got $14,663.68 and Bibb $12,147.72.

The end of the "Pegleg" Williams case has been reached, Attorney General Terrell yesterday received the mandate from the supreme court of the United States, affirming the decision of the Georgia supreme court as to the penalty under the law fixing a license of $500 upon emigrant agents in each county in the state, and it will be made the judgment of the Georgia court. It is understood Williams has about $5,000 tied up in several counties in which he did business prior to the litigation, and which now is liable to remain tied up. Williams has adopted the new plan of paying the tax first and suing for its recovery.

Information came to the capitol yesterday that Gus Reese, a negro convict who has been detained at Smith's camp, in Oglethorpe county, as a supposed escape, has been released. Reese served a term in Jarrell's camp, in Oglethorpe county, and when he was released he was arrested by Mark Johnson, having been identified as Burrell Daniel, an escape from Smith's camp. Two citizens of Cobb county saw the governor about the matter, showing that there must have been a mistake in the identification. Governor Candler wrote to Mr. Smith, asking him to look into the matter, which he did, and at once released Reese, gave him a new suit of clothes and paid him for the time he had been at work. Governor Candler neither ordered an investigation, nor did he order Reese's discharge, as has been stated.

A requisition was issued by the governor yesterday directed to the governor of Alabama, for the return of Jesse W. Barnes, who is wanted at Buena Vista, in Marion county, for larceny after trust.

Governor Candler offered a reward of $150 yesterday for the arrest of Alfred Barton, charged with the murder of Henry James, in Liberty county, on December 22d.

It is said J. T. Wade, of Sylvania, will be chosen captain of the Sylvania Guards, the new infantry company just accepted into the state service. Mr. Wade was captain of the Screven Troop of cavalry prior to its disbandment a short time ago.

Senator Hamrick, of Carrollton, was at the capitol yesterday shaking hands with his friends. "I am here strictly on business," he said. "There is positively no politics in it."

"GOES TO THE SPOT"

There is food that feeds the lungs and wind-pipes; it feeds the whole body; but the lung part more than the rest of the body.

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil.

You think it not food but a medicine. Both. There is more lung food, in an ounce of it, than in a pound of porter-house steak; and "it goes to the spot." What else does "medicine" mean?

It "goes to the spot."

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

PAYING FULTON COUNTY PENSIONS

Many Old Veterans Gathered in the Capitol.

WIVES THERE TO COLLECT IT

Treasurer Park Paid $17,990 to About 300 Indigent and Disabled Soldiers—Interesting Incident of the Annual Gathering.

Not quite half of the pensioners of Fulton county received their pension money from the state yesterday, but there were enough of the old veterans around the capitol to keep the building lively all the morning.

To be exact, there was paid to Fulton county pensioners by State Treasurer Park yesterday $17,990, most of which went to 290 indigent soldiers who received $60 each, leaving only thirty or forty more of this class to be paid. The balance of the money was paid to ten or twelve disabled soldiers who were not turned down because they came on the wrong day.

The northern end of the capitol building yesterday morning was a "sight to see." Many of the old soldiers gathered before 9 o'clock and laid siege to the office of Pension Commissioner Lindsey until that good-hearted official found it necessary in self-defense to close the door of his office, put a guard in charge of it and admit only six of them at one time. Then they finally scattered, all, however, hovering close to the door, hoping to be called next. Some of them rested upon the heavy iron banister railing, others in the state library room and some even in the office of the attorney general, who was glad to welcome the battle-scarred survivors of a noble, if lost, cause.

Many of the veterans were accompanied by their wives, and the women proved the most patient of all those in the crowd of 300, or more, who gathered. Some of them came to support and guide the beloved partners of their youth and age, now palsied, lame or blind; others were there to collect the cash themselves in order that it might stock the larder instead of enriching the rumshop.

"What a good dinner we will have tomorrow," said one to her feeble husband. Another sat on the capitol steps in silence, the lines upon her countenance not obscuring the evident determination to see that the pension money gratified some other kind of an appetite than one for drink. This latter class went meekly through the ordeal, and there was not a family dispute of consequence during the day. One of a year ago was recalled, however, to some of the officials who were reminiscent. The wife had followed the now worthless husband right down to the treasurer's office, and as the money was handed out ($60 in all) she took it, but before it reached her pocket he had grabbed two ten-dollar bills.

"Give me that money," she demanded. "I support you all the year, and you shall not take that now and spend it for whisky."

"I'll not do it," he said. "I haven't got long to live, and I'm going to have one more good drink before I die. It's my money, anyhow," and with that he started to leave her as fast as his feeble legs would carry him.

On the capitol steps she overtook him, put her hand in his collar and pushed him down. In spite of threats of bodily harm, she held him there until she had worked her hand into his trousers' pocket and extracted the $20 which he had thought to spend in one good spree. Then she left him, telling him he could come home if he wanted to, while he sat upon the steps calling his wife all sorts of names until he grew tired and departed to hunt more congenial quarters.

There was one pensioner who collected his $60 yesterday who was eighty-two years old, yet he stood erect and firm, while many others, the weight of whose years was far less, were bent and lame and feeble. The frazzled edges of many a coat and waistcoat showed that pension money was too scarce to permit of much replenishing of the wardrobe; if is the stomach principally that it has to furnish.

The $18,000 paid out yesterday will soon find its way into circulation. Some of it will go to the grocer and the clothier; a goodly share of it is likely to find its way across the bar, while the money shark will get back his principal with double compound interest doubled.

The "kid glove" pensioners were not in evidence yesterday. All of these are, of course, in the disabled class. They will slip in quietly tomorrow, draw their bounty with as little publicity as possible, and quietly disappear. Today the pension commissioner will pay the widows, of whom there are about 200. They will receive altogether about $12,000.

Fulton county seems to have more than her share of pensioners. Many of those from other counties have moved here within the last few years. Most of them are undoubtedly worthy cases, as is true in all sections of the state, but it is said there is no little fraud practiced against the pension fund. A man from Fayette county walked into the office of the pension commissioner yesterday.

"Has Sam Jenkins been granted a pension?" he asked.

Captain Lindsay could not find the name on the list.

"Has Tom Jones up there been allowed a pension?" was the next question. The result was the same as in the other case.

"Well, I just wanted to say," he said, "there is a lot of people up there drawing pensions who never knew there was a war until a few years ago, while I served two years, got a few bullet holes shot in me, and I don't git no pension at all."

Pension Commissioner Lindsey told him if he would furnish the names of such parties there would be an investigation, and those drawing pensions fraudulently would be dropped from the rolls. He had walked to the door, and went out without saying what steps he proposed to take.

HARMSWORTH IN FLORIDA.

Distinguished Englishman, Accompanied by Wife and Two Noblemen, Touring Peninsula.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Harmsworth, the duke of Newcastle and Lord Francis Hope arrived at St. Augustine yesterday and after a quick and delightful trip from New York over the Atlantic Coast line's New York and Florida special. The party will visit Palm Beach, Miami and other Florida resorts, and probably take a run over to Nassau.

WEBB TRIED TO BRAIN WITNESS

Desperate Defendant Swings Chair at Calhoun's Head.

WAS CAUGHT BY SPECTATORS

John Hall Acquitted Yesterday of the Charge of Robbery—Robert Langley's Conviction Was the Cause of a Pathetic Scene.

The session of the criminal branch of the superior court yesterday was marked by a thrilling and most sensational episode. The incident occurred during the trial of Dave Webb, a white man, for holding up and robbing a negro by the name of Lowndes Calhoun and Webb figured as the principal.

Calhoun was on the witness stand and had testified that Webb was the man who robbed him. He said he was compelled to submit by having a pistol aimed at his head. This testimony was very pointed and was of an exceedingly damaging nature.

When the witness concluded and left the witness stand, he walked near where Webb was seated. He had reached a point only a few feet from the prisoner, when of a sudden Webb leaped from his seat, seized a chair, and was in the act of dealing his prosecutor a terrific blow, when two men in his rear quickly caught hold of the uplifted chair and prevented the carrying out of his desperate design.

The courtroom was instantly precipitated into a scene of excitement, but Judge Candler immediately restored order. The jury returned a verdict of guilty against Webb and Judge Candler sentenced him to serve five years in the penitentiary.

Judge Candler imposed a sentence of ten years in the case, in which he plead guilty, and a sentence of five years in the latter case, the three cases netting a total sentence of twenty years for Webb.

After he had received the heavy sentence of twenty years, the officers did not feel inclined to give him the least chance to make trouble or get away and permission was secured from Judge Candler to handcuff Webb, while escorting him from the courtroom to the Tower.

John Hall Is Acquitted.

Robert Langley and John Hall, the other two men implicated in the engine house robbery, were also tried yesterday. Langley was also charged with complicity in the robbery of the negro Calhoun. He was acquitted of the robbery of the engine house, but was found guilty of the other charge and was given a sentence of five years.

Langley's conviction was marked by a very pathetic scene. His mother and brother were in court and on the announcement of the verdict, both broke down and wept, the anguish of the mother being especially pitiable and exciting the sympathy of those who witnessed the sad scene. When the two left the courtroom, the mother leaning on the arm of her boy, she was still crying.

The jury in the case of John Hall returned a verdict of not guilty. The state endeavored to prove that he was a party to the engine house robbery, but Hall proved by three witnesses, his two nieces and a young man, that he was at his home on the night of the robbery. It was proven that he was with Webb, when the stolen watch was pawned, but Hall claims that he was simply assisting Webb to pawn it and did not know it was stolen. The alibi was the strong feature of the defense.

W. A. HAMPTON IS DEAD.

Popular Young Atlantian Died Yesterday at the Home of His Sister, Mrs. McKie.

The many friends of W. A. Hampton, one of Atlanta's most popular young men, will learn of his death yesterday with sincere sorrow.

Mr. Hampton had been in ill health for some months, and but a few days since returned from Florida, where his condition did not improve. The end came at the home of his sister, Mrs. E. D. McKie, at 29 East Ellis street.

Mr. Hampton came to Atlanta from Athens ten years ago, and engaged in the wholesale grocery business. For several years past he had been a city salesman for J. J. & J. E. Maddox.

Mr. Hampton married Miss Etta Few, of Madison, who survives him, besides whom he leaves a sister, Mrs. McKie, and two brothers, T. C. Hampton and F. Z. Hampton, of Washington, D. C.

The funeral will occur from the place of his death at 10 o'clock this morning. The pallbearers will be John Walker, L. C. Hardway, Leon Singer, A. L. Anderson, C. J. O'Farrell, Jr., and Chester Smith. The interment will be at Westview.

A Life and Death Fight.

Mr. W. A. Hines, of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death, says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in Consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5.00 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure Throat, Chest and Lung troubles." Regular size 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at all drug stores.

REDUCED RATES AGREED UPON

Passenger Association Fixes Rates to Buffalo Exposition.

New Orleans, January 16.—The second day's session of the Transcontinental Passenger association adjourned at 6 o'clock this evening, having got rid of several important matters. It was decided that for the pan-American exposition at Buffalo the regular summer tourist rates would be put on. Another important matter taken up was that concerning reduced rates for army and navy officers. After deliberating over the matter for some time, it was decided to refer it to a committee consisting of the representatives of the Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Rock Island railroads. For the National Educational association's meeting at Detroit, July 8th to 12th, it was decided to put in a thirty-day one fare rate. Such a rate was also decided upon for the triannual conclave of the Knights Templar, to be held at Louisville, August 27th to 30th.

The matter of the Knights of Pythias convention at San Francisco in 1902 was referred to a committee of the lines terminal at San Francisco. For the presidential inauguration, March 4th, at Washington, a thirty-day one fare rate was agreed to. The same rate was made for the meeting of the grand lodge of Elks at Milwaukee, which will take place July 16th to 23d, and similar rates were made for the Christian Endeavor convention at Cincinnati in June.

LYNCHING OF TRAINWRECKER.

Negro Confessed That He Threw Plant Train Off Track.

Ocala, Fla., January 16.—Norman McKinney, colored, has been lynched for wrecking the Plant system fast train near Dunnellon Sunday night, and the victim implicated two others, who may share the same fate if they are caught. In less than two hours after the wreck, in which the engineer was killed, the Citrus county officers were on the trail of the wreckers, and dozens of arrests were made before Monday at noon. All of the arrests were on suspicion, and several of them were liberated, proving conclusively that they were not the guilty parties. Monday afternoon McKinney was taking a deep interest in the affair, and was promptly arrested by the officers, also on suspicion. That night he was questioned so closely and told so many conflicting stories that it was decided to carry him to Inverness to the county jail. On the way a mob of fifty or more overpowered the officers and took the prisoner. He was taken back to the scene of the wreck and there confessed to the crime, implicating and describing the two others, who have escaped, but are now being hunted.

NEW BILLS IN GREAT NUMBER.

Tennessee Legislature Kept Busy by Measures Presented.

Nashville, Tenn., January 16.—(Special.) At today's session of the general assembly Hon. E. W. Carmack was formally declared elected United States senator for six years, and R. E. Folk, of Davidson county, was elected state treasurer for two years. Mr. Folk was supported by the democrats and S. W. Gilbreath, of Jefferson county, by the republicans. Mr. Folk received 93 votes and Mr. Gilbreath 18.

Among the bills introduced in the senate were the following: To abolish capital punishment for murder; to allow a contract rate of interest as high as 8 per cent, the legal rate to remain 6 per cent, as at present, when not stipulated in the written contract; to make burglary of an occupied house punishable by death; to allow saloons to keep open only between 6 a. m. and 9 p. m.; to establish an agricultural and industrial school for the colored race at Knoxville.

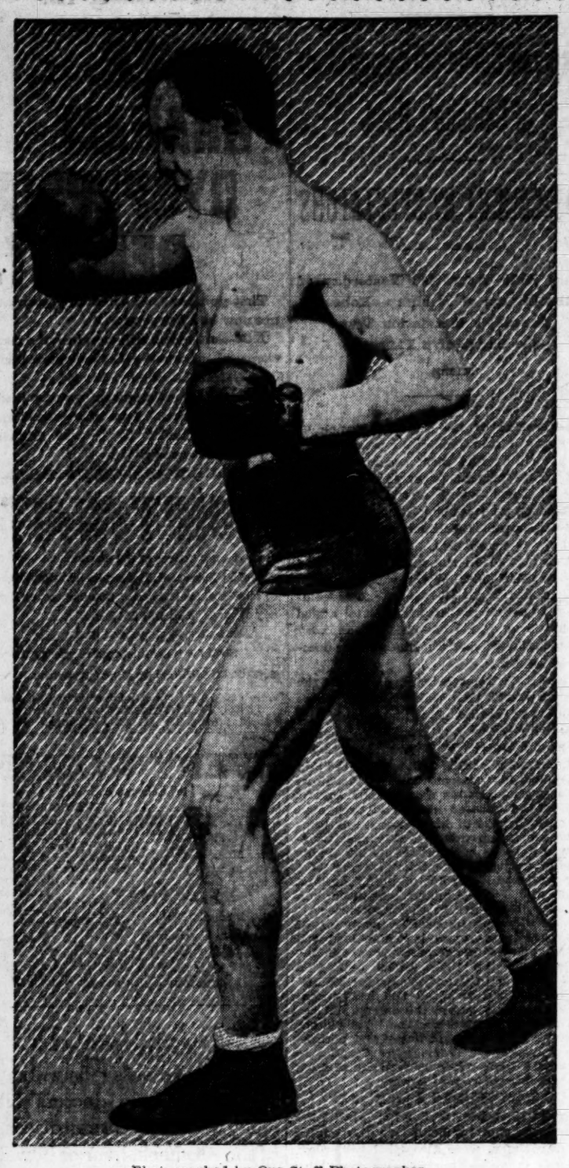

In the house bills were introduced to make it a misdemeanor for any public officer charged with the execution of criminal law to allow any person to escape punishment; to provide for the parole of convicts in the state prison by the prison commissioners when one-fifth of the sentence has been served, second term men or those convicted of murder, rape, incest, burglary, arson or robbery being excepted; to submit the question of calling a constitutional convention the first Thursday in August; to require true composition and amount of ingredients stamped on packages of food products; to make it a felony to sell or buy, or offer to sell or buy votes; to provide for local option in towns of 2,500 population and under.

VIRGINIA-CAROLINA LEAGUE.

Dixie Club in Old Dominion and One in Old North State.

Norfolk, Va., January 16.—(Special.)—There will be only one North Carolina club in the professional baseball league of Virginia and North Carolina, the organization of which was perfected at a meeting at the Monticello in this city tonight. Raleigh has been selected from the list of half a dozen applicants and the five Virginia clubs are to be Danville, Richmond, Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News, Hampton. John T. Brady of Portsmouth is president of the league.

RUHLIN IN SHAPE FOR HIS FIGHT WITH JEFFRIES

Photographed by Our Staff Photographer.

Ruhlin has decided that if he is to beat Jeffries on February 15th he must keep away from beaten tracks. To a member of our staff who visited him in his training quarters recently, Ruhlin acknowledged that he had drawn up a set of rules for the daily routine that were different to any he had heretofore followed. He spars less, works harder with medicine balls, practices fewer blows and gives more time to perfecting novel and unexpected methods of attack. His form is almost perfect, and he will face Jeffries in magnificent condition if he keeps up his present gait.

BOWLING TOURNEY WILL BE INAUGURATED TONIGHT

The opening games of the big bowling tournament which is to be held at Jack Wilson's place will take place this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. The tournament is expected to consume two weeks.

The first game will be between the wholesale merchants and the commission merchants. Pritchett is captain of the commission merchants, and Ewing will serve in the same capacity for the other team. Both teams are composed of good bowlers, and the initial game of the tournament will doubtless prove an exciting one.

When this game has been completed, the city selected team and the Cable piano men will try conclusions on the alley. The piano team will be captained by Bateman, while Joel Wilson is captain of the city selected. The indications are that the first two games will set a pace for the teams that are to follow, and that before the end of the tournament records will be approached.

The rules of the American Bowling Congress will govern all the games played during the tournament. These rules will be read before the opening of the contest. Following this ceremony the captains of the teams will then proceed to select a referee and umpire. There will also be an official scorer. The umpire will have charge of the pins, while the referee will be with the bowlers.

Atlanta lovers of bowling will doubtless be treated to rare sport during the two weeks of the tournament, and as many spectators as possible will be accommodated each evening. Chairs from the billiard room will be placed in the bowling alley for the comfort of those who will wish to watch the games.

Each team will consist of five men, and those who have decided to enter the tournament are among the most successful bowlers in the city. The billiard tournament will probably not be opened for about a month.

BANK ELECTS ITS OFFICERS.

Changes Are Shown in the New Directory.

Carrollton, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—In the annual election of officers of the Carrollton Bank several changes were made. J. B. E. Brown, who has been its cashier for the past ten years, declining re-election, J. R. Adamson, the former bookkeeper, was elected cashier and C. B. Lasseter was engaged as bookkeeper. Mr. Brown goes to Rome as office man and bookkeeper of the Rome Furniture and Lumber Company. J. T. Bradley, former vice president, was elected president and C. H. Stewart, former president was chosen vice president. Colonel Jack J. Spalding, of Atlanta, attended and was elected a director in the stead of R. D. Spalding, of Atlanta. The other directors chosen were L. C. Mandeville, J. T. Bradley, C. H. Stewart, B. A. Sharp, W. O. Perry, J. K. Roop and W. J. Stewart. A 3 per cent semi-annual dividend was declared and $2,500 was passed to the surplus, or undivided profit account.

WEDDING WAS A QUIET ONE.

Mr. Edwin Henry Bacon and Miss Josephine Emmie Dorsett Married.

Savannah, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock there drove up to the door of St. John's Episcopal church on Bull street a carriage. Mr. Edwin Henry Bacon and Miss Josephine Emmie Dorsett alighted from the vehicle and entering the church were married. The wedding was a quiet one. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Herbert Woodward, assistant to Rev. Charles H. Strong, the rector, who is absent in New York. The groom's mother, Mrs. A. S. Bacon, was present. Mr. R. D. Sullivan gave the bride away. Though the marriage comes without preliminary announcement it will not cause much surprise. Mr. Bacon has been attentive to Miss Dorsett for several years and it has been expected that the marriage would occur soon. The bridegroom is a son of A. S. Bacon, a prominent lumber dealer, and the bride is the child of Mr. C. H. Dorsett, Savanah's leading and wealthy real estate agent. The bride is a very attractive young woman and has a host of friends in Savannah.

Looney, being an older man, had influenced young Blankenship to steal from his employers. The offense, of which Looney was convicted, is a misdemeanor and is punishable by a fine of not more than $1,000, imprisonment in the chaingang for not more than twelve months, and imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six months, either or all in the discretion of the court. Looney was sentenced to six months in the chaingang. The four additional indictments against the detective, are still held against him and he will probably have to stand trial on them, when he concludes his present sentence.

J. M. Blankenship, who was jointly indicted with Looney on five counts and indicted separately on one count, plead guilty before Judge Candler yesterday in two cases. The other indictments were nol prossed. Judge Candler imposed a fine of $200 on Blankenship and in doing so, he stated that he wanted to give the young man another chance.

A petition was presented to Judge Candler, signed by a large number of citizens, asking him to be as lenient as possible with Blankenship. Among the signers to the petition, were number of children, who reside in the same community with Blankenship and the judge characterized the petition as a most remarkable one. Blankenship is a married man and has one little child, a daughter.

The Merits Of Our Ladies' Underwear and Hosiery.

The merits of our Underwear and Hosiery are many—not a garment but will uphold the good name of this department—a name that hard work and careful attention has won for it. No expense or patience is spared in keeping this department up to the high standard we have set for it; values greater always than can be found elsewhere; garments better made and better trimmed than any other Underwear store can show. Take for instance in Hosiery, there's "Fast Black" backed by the name of Louis Hermsdorf the king of yarn dyers; or again in Union Suits, there's the "Oneita," a make that has won favor with thousands and thousands of ladies for its perfect fit and excellence of material; or again in all wool Underwear, take Dr. Jaeger's celebrated goods, acknowledged as the most perfect sanitary woolen Underwear—and so on through the entire list. There's true merit in every article.

Dr. Jaeger's Sanitary Woolen Underwear.

No superior goods were ever offered to a discriminating trade. They excel in every textile quality, in fitness of wool, in softness and delicacy of texture in the various weights, from the lightest summer quality to the heaviest winter wear, and the peculiar mode of weaving the stockinet of which they are constructed imparts an elasticity, with life and freshness, not to be found in goods of any other manufacture. In the manufacture of this underwear the natural gray or white wool is used, and being undyed and of the finest quality, makes a garment so soft and pliable as to be not only non-irritating, but positively pleasurable to the most delicate skin. Samples of weights of material, together with booklets giving further information, will be gladly mailed free upon request. We carry a complete line in many weights; skirts, gowns, shirts and drawers; knee and ankle lengths for women, children and men.

A. D. LUCK FILES CLAIMS WITH CITY

Patrolman Wants Pay Owed Him by West End.

CASE IS AN UNIQUE ONE

Had Formerly Been Paid Extra Sum Each Year.

CASE IS HELD UP FOR TWO WEEKS

The Claims Committee Met and Passed Up a Number of Matters of Minor Importance.

When the seventh ward was a municipality in itself and was known as the city of West End, Patrolman A. D. Luck was one of the most prominent members of the police force of that place.

It was the custom in those days to reward the fearless and capable guardians of the peace at the end of the year by giving each patrolman a cash present amounting to $10 per month extra for the previous twelve months. The lump sum, of course, amounted to $120.

In 1893 the city of West End became a part of the city of Atlanta. Many of the obligations assumed by the little municipality were assumed in turn by the larger city. Patrolman Luck, from being a West End officer at $40 a month, became a member of the city force at $60 per month.

Then he filed with the claims committee of the city council a claim for the $120 he did not get as the reward of his faithful services in 1893 at West End. He did not make the point that it was a legal obligation, but thought it was at least a moral obligation that Atlanta should have assumed when the incorporation of West End was consummated.

The claim came up before the new contested claim and litigation committee of the city council yesterday for consideration. Committeeman Harvey Johnson was in favor of recommending to council that the claim be paid.

"If we owe it," said he, "we owe it, and that is all there is about the matter. I think it is a moral obligation and am in favor of passing favorably upon it. If we don't do this, why, we can refer it to the claim committee of 1902 and let that body think over it."

Chairman Malvern Hill thought favorably of the claim, but one member of the committee considered it best to investigate the matter more fully. The claim will, in consequence, be held over for two weeks, when it will again be taken up for consideration and report.

The claims committee considered a number of routine matters at the meeting yesterday and the members of that committee will, within the next few days, visit in a body the fill made recently on Edgewood avenue to ascertain if any of the property owners have been damaged by reason of the improvements made.

A number of claims against the city for damages have been made by people owning land both on the avenue itself and also on the cross street for some blocks out.

BOTH PRISONERS ESCAPED

Two Negroes Break Out of Police Station.

STATE CHARGES AGAINST BOTH

Broke Panels in Door Which Blocked Their Way and Left Through Courtroom.

Will Render and Tom Barbour, two negro prisoners, effected their escape from the police station during the early hours of last night. Both negroes were held on state charges, Render being wanted in DeKalb county on the charge of cow stealing and Barbour having been arrested yesterday afternoon on the charge of larceny.

The prisoners, in some manner, managed to get out of the state department for colored prisoners, and made their way to the second floor of the station. Here their progress was temporarily stopped by the door that opens into the prisoners' room of the recorder's court. This did not prove a very material barrier to their freedom, however, for they proceeded to break out one of the panels.

The two negroes then crawled through this aperture, and as the outer door of the prisoners' room opening into the courtroom was unlocked, all they had to do was to walk out through the courtroom, down the stairway and out onto the street.

The negroes were enjoying the use of the state corridor when they made their escape. They managed to reach the second floor, as the barred door on the stairway in the cell department was not locked. When the men on the morning watch went on duty they were notified of the escape, and it is probable that if the negroes have not left the city they will be recaptured.

AFTER QUIET COURTROOMS

Committee Asks for Asphalt Surrounding Courthouse.

IMPORTANT ACTION TAKEN

Courtrooms Are Apportioned Among the Four Courts—Lumpkin Retained the Same Room That His Court Now Occupies.

The committee appointed by the bar association, to submit recommendations to the board of county commissioners, in reference to the apportioning of the court rooms in the new court house annex, met yesterday afternoon in the office of Clerk T. H. Jeffries of the superior court. Those of th committee present were Burton Smith, Captain W. D. Ellis, Sr., Judge T. P. Westmoreland, Judge James A. Anderson, and R. R. Arnold.

In addition to the committeemen, Judge Lumpkin, Judge Candler and Judge Calhoun were also present. The meeting was called by Judge Lumpkin. The most important action taken at the meeting was the decision to submit a recommendation to the city council and to the board of county commissioners to the effect that Hunter street, between Pryor and Loyd streets and Pryor street, between Hunter and Mitchell streets, be paved with asphalt or wooden blocks. It is desired that the rough stone blocks be supplanted by some smooth pavement in order that the noise on the streets, which disturbs the court proceedings, be eliminated.

This muchly needed improvement will be given attention by the judges and the committeemen and an earnest effort will be made to induce the two bodies to grant the request and to jointly pave the streets. At present the noise made by vehicles rumbling over the rough pavement is so great that it proves very disagreeable to the court officials. All of those present were unanimously in favor of the recommendation to council and the county commissioners.

Courtrooms Apportioned.

After thoroughly discussing the various points of advantage of the court house and the annex it was decided to recommend to the commissioners that the superior court, presided over by Judge Lumpkin, be continued in present quarters in the court house. It was also practically decided that the criminal branch of the superior court, presided over by Judge Candler, should be located in the court room on the first floor of the annex, as the cells for the prisoners are arranged in the basement, underneath this courtroom.

The civil and criminal branches of the city court will also be located in the annex and these courts will be on the second and third floors. The selection of the court rooms will be left to Judge Reid and Judge Calhoun. Some recommendations will also be submitted to the commissioners in reference to the alterations to be made in the superior court room.

WIDOW SENT TO BARRACKS.

Neighbors Say Mrs. Pepper Does Not Give Her Children Proper Care.

Mrs. M. A. Peppers, a widow, and her two little children, a boy and girl, were sent to the police station last night by Officers Cornett and Barrett, on complaint of the citizens of the community in which she resides. Jack Traylor, a negro man, was also locked up, in connection with the case.

Mrs. Peppers resides on Neal street, in the western portion of the city, and it is alleged that she is not properly caring for her children, but instead that they are allowed to mingle too freely with the negro children of the neighborhood. It is also charged that Traylor has been taking too many liberties about the Pepper home.

The woman and the man will be tried this afternoon before the recorder, and it is probable that an effort will be made to have the children sent to the Home for the Friendless.

SEEMS TO BE THE WRONG MAN.

Negro Arrested at Eastman Shows Clearance Card.

Macon, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—The case against negro arrested at Eastman, charged with the murder of Mrs. David Birdsong, appears to have collapsed. He was brought before the grand jury today, and out of nine witnesses summoned only two said he was the accused John Dixon, while the other seven were positive that he was not the man who was working on the Birdsong place at the time of the tragedy.

ATKINSON WANTS PETERS ST. GRANT

Says Council Is Honor Bound To Give It.

APPEARS BEFORE COMMITTEE

Declared That When the $50,000 Was Paid It Was in Consideration of Routes to West End and Grant Park.

During an adjourned meeting of the council committee on electric and other railways, held yesterday afternoon, H. M. Atkinson, of the Atlanta Rapid Transit Company, urged the granting of the petition of his company for a line to West End. Incidentally he said that his company would build the Forrest avenue line if the people wished it and council granted a franchise for that route.

He declared council was honor bound to grant both the Grant park and West End line franchises, because of the payment of the $50,000 toward the construction of the viaduct. The Grant park line had been granted, he said, but had been held up by an order of the court.

"That money was paid to the city," said he, "in consideration of the granting of franchises for those two lines that were to complete our system. We have paid the money, but we have not yet received the 'goods.' We are the only people who have paid for any franchise."

In speaking of the proposed route to West End, it was brought out that this was the line over the railroad tracks at Peters street. Mr. Atkinson stated, in answer to a question about grade crossings, that no action would be taken at that point until an amicable agreement had been reached between his road, the city and the railroads. He said he had spoken to officials of both the Central and Southern about the matter.

Preston Arkwright stated that if a viaduct was built over the Peters street crossing, it was the intention of his company to go over that by paying a stipulated sum for the privilege. He said the company had asked for a route without designating what sort of crossing should be made. Mr. Atkinson said that the present route was not the one formerly contemplated, as it had been found that the Atlanta Railway Company owned such a franchise, and only built when it found his company was after the same route.

Should Expire Simultaneously.

As to the time limit, Luther Z. Rosser stated that the Rapid Transit company's franchises should be granted for such time as that they would expire when the Atlanta Railway and Power Company's franchises ran out. This, he thought, would be in forty years. It was brought out that the general ordinance makes all franchises expire when the first franchise was granted, and this is operative unless it is otherwise stipulated when franchises are granted.

Committeeman Grady wanted to know what conditions had been placed upon the Rapid Transit company that were not on the other company, and Mr. Atkinson gave way to Mr. Arkwright, who said he would answer that question in as few words as possible.

Mr. Arkwright said council had limited his company's fares, that he could not charge more than 5 cents, while the city was powerless to hold the Power company to that figure. "You can condemn our tracks anywhere in the city," said he "and you can move them at any time. You can make us pay a tax of 5 per cent on our gross earnings and you can't make them do the same."

"We cannot enforce such a rule on you," said Mr. Grady, "unless we do the same with the other company."

"Well, the difference in that," said Mr. Rosser, "is that you have to get the Power company's consent to tax them, while you can force us without consulting us at all. They may get to a place where they can well afford to submit, while we, at the same time, might be ruined if forced to pay such a tax."

Said Company Was Restricted.

Mr. Arkwright went on to say that his companywas restricted from consolidating with another company; that his company had to pay to cross a bridge, while the other company, he said, crossed three in the center of the city and had paid nothing for the privilege. He declared he was under all the conditions of ordinances while the other company was not.

"We have to take back streets," said he, "and yet compete with the company that now has all the choice thoroughfares. If you want competition you have got to be fair to the men on the back streets. If you want to defeat competition you can grant franchises with such restrictions and hardships attached that they will expire before we have made anything out of them."

Mr. Rosser advanced the proposition that no city had ever made anything out of franchises originally, but only when grants had expired and had charged for a renewal.

"Suppose," said Committeeman Grady, "that there was an occupied street and both companies were applying for it. Would there be any unfairness in asking which company was willing to pay for it?"

"The matter is," said Mr. Arkwright, "they have a complete system now; we have not. They could well afford to buy a street just to keep us out."

He said that he had petitions from land owners representing in the aggregate 10,000 feet of property on the proposed West End route who wanted that line.

President C. J. Simmons had a few words to say concerning improvements that had been made along the lines of his company in various sections of the city and county.

PRIZE DRILL ENGAGED IN.

A prize drill was given by company D, Fifth infantry, Captain H. L. Harrison, at its armory on Whitehall street last night, in the presence of many interested spectators.

Private Winn carried off the prize in the drill contest, and Sergeant Byron Fowler and Private Otis Nix were the longest to "hold out."

Lieutenant Hadley won a fine military overcoat.

The judges were Captain Harry Anderson and Captain Frank Myers.

After the contest a much enjoyed smoker was held by the soldier lads in their armory.

RAILWAY NOTES

It is rumored that there will be a scaling of expenses all along the line on the Seaboard Air Line system. According to the report, the cut will affect salaries in almost every department, and a large number of laborers on the system, it is expected, will be laid off.

This policy of retrenchment, it seems, began with the laying off of seventy-five men in the shops at Portsmouth the day the directors held their meeting and began their tour of inspection of the system. This was followed by a reduction of the force at Columbia, S. C., shortly after the directors had visited that city, and further cuts in the force at different points on the system are looked for.

The report that expenses are to be reduced all along the line, no doubt grows largely out of these two instances. It may have come also from the report that Third Vice President Barr, of the Atchison, noted for his policy of scaling expenses, was to take the place of Vice President and General Manager St. John, which is now being filled by Captain V. E. McBell. However, that may be there is a distinct impression among railroad men that the Seaboard is going to cut expenses and cut heavily.

The Chicago and Alton will establish agency headquarters in Atlanta, to be in charge of Fred L. Chase, southwestern passenger agent, formerly stationed at Cincinnati. The Chicago and Alton offices will be in the Kimball house. Mr. Chase arrived in the city yesterday.

In local railway circles the outlook for the Florida and gulf coast tourist business is pronounced unusually bright. While the most sensitive factor in starting the thousands southward is the cold wave that has set in with midwinter earnestness, the effect of the almost universal prevalence of la grip in the north is not to be underrated. In hundreds of instances ticket buyers are literally fleeing from the dread microbe.

The efforts of the southern roads to divert the usual mid-winter volume of northern tourist travel from California to Florida have begun in earnest. The first through sleeper from Chicago to Jacksonville left Atlanta at 9 o'clock yesterday morning over the Central.

The Georgia railroad has made the following changes in its local schedule: The morning train, formerly leaving Atlanta at 7:50 o'clock, now leaves at 8:05 o'clock and the afternoon train formerly arriving at 8:20 now arrives at 7:40 o'clock.

The Alice Neilson Opera Company, the largest troupe of its kind now on the road, will be brought to Atlanta via the Southern on January 29 by special train. The company occupies six coaches, and as it was impossible to handle them on the regular tran, they will be handled special.

Lieutenant Jenkins and eighty-six men of the heavy battery of artillery, who have been stationed at Fort McPherson, left the city yesterday by special train on the Southern, which went out as the first section of train 38, shortly after noon. The battery will reach New York about 10 o'clock this morning, and will arrive at its destination, Fort Trumbull, near London, Conn., by 5 o'clock this afternoon, according to contract.

The Georgia railway is putting in some 2,000 feet of extra sidetrack in the Atlanta yards to accommodate team track delivery. This will give additional track accommodation for forty or fifty cars.

General Passenger Agent H. C. McFadden, of the Waycross Air Line, notified the railroad commission yesterday that his line would probably be completed and in operation to Fitzgerald by February 1st, and when that is done the line will reduce its passenger fare from four to three cents per mile.

The Hawkinsville and Florida Southern is also extending its line to Fitzgerald, and is likewise contemplating an immediate extension from its northern terminus, Pitts, Ga., to Hawkinsville. This is now a short lumber and naval stores road. When extended to Hawkinsville, however, and completed to Fitzgerald, it will in connection with the Waycross Air Line form a complete line from Waycross to Hawkinsville at which point it will connect with the Southern railway. It is expected this line will be completed this year.

The railroad commission has postponed the hearing in the case of the application of the people of Cordele for a new depot until Friday, February 1st, at the request of the Seaboard and the Georgia Southern and Florida. Architect Willis F. Denny, of this city, is now engaged on plans for a union depot for those two roads at that point, and it will be impossible to finish the plans before the first of the month. All the indications are, however, that Cordele will be given a handsome depot.

The case of the application of the people of Tennille to require the Southern to build a new depot, is still pending and will be considered by the commission next Friday.

All of the general, and assistant general passenger agents are in St. Augustine attending the meeting of the Southeastern Passenger Association now in session there.

HELD EXECUTIVE SESSION.

Council Committee Met Last Night To Consider Petition for Electric Lighting Franchise.

An executive session of the council committee on electric lights, telegraph and telephones was held last night in the mayor's office to consider the petition of the Atlanta Railway and Power Company for a franchise for an electric lighting plant.

The committee held an open meeting several days ago and heard argument both for and against the granting of this petition. The session last night was held for the purpose of deciding upon a report to be made on the matter to council on Monday afternoon.

25 Years Younger

"I am now seventy-two years of age and my hair is as dark as it was twenty-five years ago. People say I look at least that much younger than I am. I would be entirely bald or snow-white if it were not for your Hair Vigor."—Mrs. ANNA LAWRENCE, Chicago, Ill., Dec. 22, 1898.

Ayer's Hair Vigor restores color to gray hair every time. And it is a wonderful food to the hair, making it grow rich and heavy, and keeping it soft and glossy all the time. It is also an elegant dressing.

Home Treatment

Antioch, Miss., May 3, 1900.

I write this to try to explain my case and also to thank you for the great benefit I have derived from the use of your Wine of Cardui. I am 29 years old and have been married 12 years and have six children. I was taken last June with something like smothering spells. My flesh left dead. I had heart palpitation; seemed like my lungs were full of needles. I had a burning sensation right under my left breast; was short of breath. I could not hold still at all. I had six doctors but none of them did me any good. The last one said my womb was bent backwards. He straightened it and then it came down. I had what is called falling of the womb. The doctor gave me a supporter and a pessary. I had no stomach to eat and was so weak that I could hardly walk across the room. I have taken six bottles of Wine of Cardui and it has helped me. My monthly sickness stopped on me and Wine of Cardui corrected that so that my periods are regular now and I feel better than I have in nine months. I can do all my housework and I go to see my neighbors on foot.

Mrs. LIZZIE MORGAN.

Wine of Cardui, in curing Mrs. Morgan proved itself worthy of its reputation as the "leading female remedy made"; Mrs. Morgan was suffering agonies continually, with six doctors around her. But Wine of Cardui proved to be the remedy she needed. There are thousands of women to-day who need who would be cured of every pain as easily as Mrs. Morgan was. It will cure YOU the same as it cured her. Do you know that you can purchase a bottle of Wine of Cardui at the nearest drug store for $1.00, and, by treating yourself in the privacy of your own home, get relief from all those painful diseases to which women are subject? Is not that preferable to the dreaded examination, which is inseparable from the "doctoring" of a local practician? At least try Wine of Cardui. We believe it will cure you at home.

A WONDERFUL OCCURRENCE, BUT NEVERTHELESS TRUE.

Providence, R.I.—Our despatches of news from Providence would be incomplete without telling of a wonderful occurrence which has taken place in this city. We will let Mrs. Elizabeth Jefferson, who is one of our well known residents, living at 359 Pine St., Providence, detail the circumstances:

"I got so run down, nervous, weak and debilitated that I could hardly walk across the floor. A doctor was called who treated me locally a year for female weakness but I received no benefit. As a last resort, I resolved to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. The second bottle made quite a change in my feelings, and my appetite improved, and in consequence, I gained other ways. I continued its use until I had taken ten bottles, then I felt like a new being. Now I only take an occasional bottle. I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura to all like sufferers. Don't suffer as I did, when there is a healing balm in Nervura and a great physician at its head. I am entirely free from all nervous affections. My daughter has also received great relief from the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura."

While this seems to us to be a remarkable cure, we are credibly informed from the office of Dr. Greene, 35 W. 14th St., New York City, that thousands of such testimonials from people who have been cured by this wonderful restorer of health, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, are constantly being received from all parts of the United States. This, together with the fact that Dr. Greene's Nervura is the great medical discovery of the most successful physician in the cure of nervous and chronic complaints, who can be consulted by the sick and suffering absolutely free of charge, either by personal call or by letter, certainly offers the means of a sure and positive cure to everybody. EDITOR.

SPOT OFFERINGS WERE SMALLER

Talker Neill Will Issue Bullish Circular in Near Future.

CAUSES FOR SHARP ADVANCE

Tables Were Completely Turned, Bulls Being in Control from Opening to Closing—Cotton Was Firm but Quiet in the Afternoon.

New York, January 16.—The tables were turned completely in today's market for cotton futures, the bulls being in control from opening to closing. The direct cause for the upward movement was an unexpected bulge in the English market, which, in turn, was influenced, according to private cables, to smaller offerings of spot cotton and talk of a bullish circular by Neill in the near future. On the advance many minor bull factors came to light and helped the market. The opening was steady with prices up 3 to 5 points. The shorts for a brief time were inclined to believe the reaction only a temporary matter. But the continued advances abroad soon led to a hasty retreat on the part of local bears and brought an influx of investment buying orders. Before the demand had been appreciably appeased prices had climbed to a level 14 to 16 points above the closing bids of yesterday, while Liverpool had reached a net gain of 3 to 4½ points. Claims that cotton mill ends were improved, that spot cotton south was bringing fully ⅛c higher prices and that receipts were in shape to fall off considerably, all helped to strengthen bullion factions and weaken the confidence of shorts. During the afternoon the market ruled generally firm, though quiet and at the close was steady with prices net 12 to 16 points higher.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, January 16.—The improvement in volume of general demand for cotton goods has been sustained today, but the rate of increase is slow, buyers are not at all in a generous mood and their purchases are as a rule restricted to immediate requirements. The tone of the market is unaltered, and there is no change in prices in any direction.

Murphy & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, January 16.—As Liverpool was expected to come 2 64d lower today in response to the weakness here yesterday, the advices of 4 64d advance after the opening there, coupled with orders to buy from the continent, caused this market to open 5 points higher, and further advance about 8 points on rather general buying both to cover and for new account, despite freer receipts and expectation of liberal offerings from holders of spot cotton in the south. Liverpool closed at a net advance of 4 to 4½ points. Our market closed firm with prices 12 to 15 points above last night's close. Port receipts 33,051 against 41,000 last year. New Orleans expects tomorrow 6,000 to 7,000 against 4,997 last year; Houston 5,500 to 6,500 against 3,397.

H. & B. Beers's Cotton Letter.

New Orleans, January 16.—Instead of responding to the easiness of American markets yesterday Liverpool was surprisingly firm, the improvement being due to better Manchester advices and the expectation that Mr. Neill would issue a very bullish circular tomorrow confirming his previous estimate. Prices here in sympathy opened 5 to 6 points higher, advanced 9 additional on fresh buying, closing at a net gain of 15 points on the day. The semi-weekly interior receipts were 60,000 this year, against 40,000 last year and 53,000 year before last, or an increase of 50 per cent over last year and 13 per cent over the 11,000,000 bale year. As indicated, stocks gained 2,000 this year, against a loss of 11,000 last year and a loss of 8,000 year before last. Advices received today from Texas, Arkansas, North and South Carolina and Georgia claim there are larger stocks of cotton than last year being held in interior points and on plantations in these states. Sentiment continues universally bullish, and any incentive is eagerly taken advantage of to force prices higher. It is questionable though whether any sharp advance can be maintained with such discouraging trade conditions existing in America and Europe unless receipts drop off decidedly.

Southern Exchange Cotton Letter.

New York, January 16.—Cables were a little better than expected, and our market opened 2 to 5 points higher on short covering and light buying for southern account. Cables reported a decline of 1 32d on spots; middling uplands 5 7-16d; sales 10,000. Futures at 2 o'clock were 1 64d above yesterday's close. Prices advanced 8 to 10 on continued short covering and more aggressive bull tactics. The report that Neill had reiterated his former estimate of 9,750,000 had a hardening effect on prices, and although there were some little reactions from the highest, prices continued steady, and in the late trading rallied above the early high points. The market closed steady at the highest.

C. W. Lee & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

By Private Wire to Atlanta Cotton and Stock Exchange:

New York, January 16.—The market opened up 5 to 6 points on covering, due to better Liverpool advices than expected and fear that the short side had been overdone. Selling was chiefly long cotton forced on by big port receipts and apprehension of a fresh liquidation movement later in the day. The commission houses did little around the opening, and conservative parties were inclined to hold aloof until overnight accumulations of orders had been disposed of, and this market had reached a fair working basis. The market is holding firm and well up to top notch on covering and light investment buying justified by a firm Liverpcol close, bullish spot market news and rumors that Neill is soon to come out with a bullish statement. The market shows plenty of inherent strength, and will doubtless do better for a time at least. New Orleans dispatches continue to report a very bullish feeling south, and state that prices in spot markets are at least 3-16c higher. The south is holding firm and present indications point to a higher Liverpool market again tomorrow. We see no reason to warn against purchases, but feel that for the present short sales are hazardous.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter

New York, January 16.—Liverpool rallied sharply from the weak closing of yesterday on the report that the monthly circular of Messrs. Neill Bros., of London, would be bullish on the basis of a crop of 9,750,000 bales. Our market advanced in favor to these favorable advices from abroad in face of the new movement at the ports and interior towns. Local traders were the principal buyers, looking for a reaction from the sharp decline since Friday, taking the Southern offerings, which were larger than expected, with the strength of the foreign markets. Januarys were neglected, being without trading by the brokers identified with the holders. Shorts covered generally and the market relapsed into dullness. Outside buying did not appear, though the local trade look for a better market abroad tomorow.

STEEL STOCKS THE ATTRACTION

Supporting Orders Effected Rise at Opening.

THEY LATER SOLD LOWER

Railroad List Sympathized with Steel Stocks, Selling Off in Late Dealing—$1,757,000 Gold Engaged for Today's Steamers.

New York, January 16.—The excessive confusion of speculative opinion today was shown by wild and frequent fluctuations in prices, often conflicting in different groups of stocks. An evident effort was made to differentiate the movement of the steel stocks from that of the railroad stocks. The action of the steel group yesterday made it very evident that a decline in them was to be faced. Some effort was made at the opening to contest this event, and supporting orders effected a rise of a point over last night in Steel and Wire and Tin Plate and of 1¾ in National Tube, but the last named stock was the only one which retained any show of strength in the later dealings. There was some show of support in Federal Steel early in the day, and after an opening decline of 1¼ it rallied a point, but the selling of the stock was persistent and urgent on account of disappointment by speculators that no action was taken at yesterday's meeting to insure quarterly dividends for the coming year, in which there had been great faith. There were occasional rallies in the stock, and it was lifted vigorously at the last 2 points above the lowest, but manipulation was palpable in the rally. At the low level this stock was 4¼ below last night and the preferred was off 3⅛. Next to this Tin Plate was most acutely affected in spite of yesterday's 8 per cent dividend declaration, and fell an extreme 4 points. Colorado Fuel was down ⅝, American Hoop 3, Tennessee Coal 2¾ and others of the group from 1 to 1⅛. The conditions in the railroad list were exceedingly irregular. During the early dealings, there were sufficient points of strength to overcome the few opening declines caused by sympathy with the London market and with the weakness of the steel stocks. There was a manifest disposition to realize also in the coalers and a sagging tendency at other points. St. Paul was vigorously taken in hand in the midst of this uncertainty and marked up nearly 6 points, precipitating a large volume of forced buying from the bears. The market generally responded in sympathy, but with a quick relapse of 2 points in St. Paul began to run off again. Then Burlington took up the movement on the decision of the directors to increase the stock 10 per cent to be issued at par to stockholders. The resulting rise in the stock reached 4⅛, but the doubt engendered by the demonstrated manipulation of St. Paul detracted from the effect on the general market and prices did not get back to the top. The advances had reached 2¾ in Northern Pacific, 3 in Delaware and Hudson, 2⅜ in Rock Island and 2 points in St. Louis and San Francisco second preferred. Manhattan and Sugar also rose about 2 points. When the futility of these measures to hold the railroad list became evident, the speculative liquidation increased to a very heavy volume. The coalers, the Pacifics, the local tractions, People's Gas and Sugar were thrown on the market in a torrent of large blocks. The general level of prices was forced considerably below last night, only a few small net gains remaining. The reaction reached 5 points in St. Paul, 4⅜ in Manhattan and from 2 to 3 points in the other prominent stocks indicated. The closing was unsettled and irregular, but there was no evidence of any demand from other than short interests. The announcement of gold exports today for tomorrow's steamer did not seem to affect sentiment, as the early strength in the market developed after the shipments were known. The accumulation of money at this center continues on so large a scale that the interest rate tended lower today in spite of the gold exports and the softness of the exchange market showed that the absorption of exchange bills sold against the gold exports was not easy.

The bond market was moderately active and eased off in sympathy with stocks. Total sales, par value, $2,390,000.

United States old 4s declined ½ per cent and 5s registered ¼ per cent on the last call.

Commercial Advertiser's Financial Cable.

New York, January 16.—The Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram says: "The markets here today were firm, although the call for troops for Africa was disliked.

"Americans began about ½ under parity, but recovered in the first hour and remained firm till just before the close, when St. Paul and Northern Pacific spurted sharply on New York orders attributed to the so-called Morgan deal. Their buoyancy, however, failed to stimulate the general rise, suggesting the market interest here has failed.

"Call money rates were higher on the settlement demand. There is talk of gold coming from Russia. The bank lent a large sum for a few days at 4½. It bought £120,000 gold in bars.

"The copper fortnightly statistics show a decrease in stocks of 512 tons, and in supplies of 108."

Murphy & Co.'s Stock Letter.

New York, January 16.—The initial trading in the stock market this morning was less animated than had been commonly looked for in view of the feverishness prevailing at the close of business yesterday. Early prices showed irregular changes with advances and declines appearing in about equal numbers. The railway list was fairly steady. St. Paul opened fractionally higher than last night's final figures and Burlington at an advance of 1 point. There were sharp advances in some of the specialties, notably in St. Louis and San Francisco second preferred. Southern Pacific was actively dealt in at a slight rise from yesterday's final figures, and the Erie issues continued notably strong and active. In the local traction group, Manhattan was conspicuously strong, but little was done elsewhere in that quarter. The industrial stocks, and particularly the Steel group, were heavily dealt in. Large blocks of Federal Steel changed hands somewhat below yesterday's final figures. Tin Plate and American Steel and Wire were also largely dealt in and were fairly firm. The London market for Americans showed irregular price changes, with declines predominating, and the dealings here for foreign account upon the opening of business were on both sides of the market.

WHEAT TOOK A DECIDED SLUMP

Weak Cables and Heavy Movement the Factors.

TONE AT CLOSE WAS WEAK

Corn Was Dull and Easier, Closing 1-4 to 3-8c Lower—Oats Closed 1-8 to 1-4c Lower—Provisions Heavy, Closing Lower.

Chicago, January 16.—Weak cables and the continued heavy movement were factors in a decided slump which the wheat market took today. May closing ½@⅝c lower. Corn closed ¼@⅜c and oats ⅛@¼c lower. Provisions at the close were 12½@27½c depressed.

May wheat opened ⅛@⅜c lower at 76@76⅛c mainly because Liverpool showed a full response to the decline here yesterday. The crowd, however, kept a keen eye on Wall street and a curb on their speculative desires, rather than on the legitimate situation. To buying from this quarter is attributed the bulge of a week ago, and to a withdrawal of this support is credited the recent declining tendency of the market. Wall street, however, is still believed to be long, and this, combined with the stiffness of some local long lines, leaves the rank and file on tender hooks. At the opening some increase of selling by a house supposed to represent Wall street brought out all sorts of small stuff, and May dropped to 76⅛@76½c. Here the pressure eased, and on reports of export engagements the market gradually rallied to 76c. Attempted realizing showed how slack the demand has grown. The decline caught stop loss order and the market near the end of the session dropped sharply to 75¼c. The close was weak ½@⅝c lower at 75⅜@75½c. Exporters reported 62 loads taken. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour were equal to 477,000 bushels. Primary receipts aggregated 620,000 bushels compared with 340,000 bushels last year. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 332 cars against 290 last week and 231 a year ago. Local receipts were 63 cars, none of them contract grade.

Corn was dull and easier, partly on the improved weather, but mainly with wheat. Country acceptances were light and the cash demand fair, but business was curtailed by the scarcity of cars. May sold between 38⅜@38c and closed ¼@⅜c lower at 38c. Receipts were 421 cars, 2 of contract grade.

Oats were moderately active at times and again extremely dull for considerable periods. The cash demand was fair and some export business was done direct. Some selling early by elevators was taken as an indication of country buying. Receipts were 219 cars. The market declined in sympathy with wheat. May sold between 24⅞ and 24@24¾c and closed ⅛@¼c lower at 24⅝@24¾c.

Provisions were heavy on liberal hog receipts and in sympathy with wheat. The market showed some recovery at one time, but dropped off again in sympathy with the wheat market. May pork sold between $14.25@13.95 and closed 27½c lower at $14; May lard between $7.55@7.45, closing 12½c down at $7.47½ and May ribs between $7.20@7.10, with the close 12½c depressed at $7.12½.

Prime on Crops.

From The New York Stockholder.

Chicago, January 12.—In the agricultural world we have pulled through this week amidst all sorts of conditions of storms, rain, sleet and snow, none of which have been of severity enough to interrupt farm and railroad traffic.

Our receipts of grain as well as live stock have been only normal. The situation is plainly traced to the fact that farmers are so well intrenched that circumstances have not obliged them as a body to sell the fruits of their labors. So far we have had decidedly a mild winter and the ground today is generally bare of snow, except a light covering of one of two inches which has fallen in the central portion of the corn belt during the last forty-eight hours.

Of course there is plenty of frost in the ground and our country roads so far have not been broken for any length of time since the first of December. In the corn belt the corn crop this season is being held back by farmers, as so far, they have not shipped or sold but a very small percentage of the crop of 1900. Corn in crib upon the farms is keeping very well. Considerable has been shelled out during the past ten to fifteen days, but this has not found its way to market, but is being stored on the farms and in country elevators for future shipment.

Up to this date the country has had what we might call a dry winter and it has been exceedingly favorable for feeding stock of all kinds. The supply of hogs and cattle, judging from reports from the interior, are not largely in excess and particularly this is the case with cattle. As the season has been so favorable for feeding hogs, and prices have been so good, hogs have not been held back at all this winter for higher prices. Prices have been good all the time and the situation now points in the direction of receipts of fat hogs having reached their maximum and are likely to fall off for the rest of the winter packing. Except in some localities hogs have been generally healthy this winter.

The winter wheat crop situation is beginning to attract some attention and there has never been a time for years when the future values of securities, to say nothing of their present, was so wrapped up in the outcome of the winter wheat as it is today. Practically the winter is half gone. The ground has been bare of snow up to date. We have had very little freezing or thawing weather. We have more or less Hessian fly in the wheat and the next sixty days will be the most trying period of the whole crop.

It is perfectly safe to say today that up to this date we have experienced very little trying weather and reports as to damage to crop are the exception rather than the rule.

Ware & Leland's Grain Letter.

By Private Wire to Atlanta Cotton and Stock Exchange.

Chicago, January 16.—Wheat, Liverpool ½d lower; corn ⅛d lower. London, cargoes off coast, sellers asking ¼d less; 2 cargoes on sale; March ⅝d lower. Paris, spot wheat 5 centimes lower; futures 15 centimes lower; spot flour 5 centimes higher; futures 5 lower. Antwerp and Berlin ⅝c lower. Budapest ¼c lower. Primary receipts 62,000; shipments 181,000. Northwest cars 322; last week 192; last year 231. Estimated cars here tomorrow: Wheat 65; corn 435; oats 225. Clearances wheat 476,700; corn 1,500,000; oats 115,000. Seaboard sales for export 80 loads; 200,000 bushels were worked here. Northwest interior elevator stocks increased 500,000 bushels. There was some fairly good buying by commission houses, but the failure of the market to develop any strength led to large realizing sales by a prominent local who started the selling, while buying orders seemed to be withdrawn. There was a large export business worked at the seaboard and a good demand here, but it did not seem to stem the selling movement, which became quite moderate toward the close. The decline should allow of an improvement in the cash and export demand, a taste of which was had today.

Corn—Export sales 160 loads. While country acceptances were light offerings were quite liberal and values weakened in sympathy with wheat. There was some fairly good buying of May at 38c, which was bid at the close. It looks tonight as if values would work a little lower.

Oats—Export sales 90,000 bushels. This cereal was weak with the balance of the market. Elevator people were the principal sellers.

Provisions—Hogs closed easier 5 to 10c lower; about 6,000 left over; estimated tomorrow 37,000. Shipments of lard 2,117,000 pounds; meats 2,290,000 pounds; pork 955 barrels. The market developed weakness due to declines at the yards, while considerable commission house realizing appeared. There was fairly good buying by packers and local operators, but we would not be surprised to see values work off some more, as a good sized reaction is about due.

Murphy & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Chicago, January 16.—Wheat was weak and lower this morning, showing a declining tendency in the market, particularly at New York, which broke ⅝c from last night's close. Northwestern markets were weak, and Chicago heavy. Foreign markets were weakest and foreign houses claimed that there was little interest exhibited in the orders received today, although yesterday there was fair inquiry. The freedom of the interior movement, the size of the stocks, pressure of cash wheat on the markets, continued big carrying charges and so far at the higher prices indifferent foreign interests have all been against the market. Northwest receipts continue liberal which exerts a discouraging effect. Wheat was dull and very weak late on liquidation, closing near the lowest.

Corn—The trade was fairly active with prices showing a fairly steady undertone at a slight decline at the interior. Western receipts were again large, and the Chicago arrivals today were 421 cars, only 2 contract. Corn was quiet late and a little lower.

Provisions were fairly active and nervous at a little decline in the future markets. Live hogs were also lower with quite liberal receipts estimated. Provisions closed dull.

NEW BOOK ON DAUGHTERS OF REVOLUTION IS READY

Mrs. Flora Adams Darling To Reappear in Literary Field.

FACTS OF ORGANIZATION WILL BE PRESENTED

Golden Wedding of Colonel and Mrs. Hardin Was Celebrated Last Night — Congratulations Were Showered on the Happy Couple.

WITH the publication of a notable book, "Founding and Organization of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Daughters of the Revolution," Mrs. Flora Adams Darling will make her reappearance in the literary field from which she withdrew ten years ago to take up the work of the social organization of women. The history of the patriotic societies of which Mrs. Darling is founder will be of exceptional interest to all of the women who are members of the two factions of the Daughters; it will be of almost equal interest to society in general, which has looked on the Daughters with self-complacence. The effect of the book, it is believed by Mrs. Darling, will be to unite the Daughters into an order with a single purpose, love of "Home and Country," the motto selected by her for the society.

The patriotic orders which have developed from the Alpha chapter organized by Mrs. Darling in Washington, D. C., in 1890, now spread over the entire country, and embrace a membership of over seventy-five thousand women of revolutionary ancestry—women who are the leaders of the social and intellectual world. The history which Mrs. Darling has written settles the matter of the founding, by presenting officially attested facts and documentary evidence of the first year of the organization of the society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the subsequent formation of the Daughters of the Revolution. A great part of the history has never before been published in any form, being records of the correspondence that came to Mrs. Darling when she was the founder general in charge of the organization. Much of this matter is reproduced in facsimile, as are also the official papers in her possession.

The history claims to be written to establish the truth that "for eight years the records of the society of the Daughters of the American Revolution have been altered to cover the false story of the founding, which the board of 1891 set up, and which has since been perpetuated." The great controversy over the "mother of a patriot" eligibility clause in the constitution, which caused the split in the society and the resignation of Mrs. Darling as director general, is fully described, and the status of the two societies is clearly set forth. In describing the cause of the insertion of the objectionable clause, Mrs. Darling declares that it was proposed and advocated by those who sought to use the society as a stepping stone for personal advancement.

What reception this authoritative work will receive from the Daughters is a matter of conjecture. The Daughters of the Revolution, who all have clear lineal records, and who are recognized by Mrs. Darling as the simon pure, have urged her to clear up the discussion by publishing the facts and documents in her possession. Many of the Daughters of the American Revolution who are members on lineal lines have made the same request. Mrs. Darling in her preface states that "in the interest of truth" she presents the facts as they are.

The history will appear in an authorized autograph edition of 5,000 copies, available to the officers and members of the societies only, on subscription at $2 a copy, and will be issued by the Independence Publishing Company, of Philadelphia, in March. The book will be 300 pages, royal octavo, cloth bound; will contain numerous portraits and reproductions of papers and official correspondence. Upon request, the subscription cards will be sent to duly accredited members of the societies.

Mrs. Flora Adams Darling is the widow of General Edward Irving Darling. She has written a number of successful novels, and has contributed to magazines and papers for many years. Among her notable books are: "Mrs. Darling's Letters, a Memoir of the Civil War;" "A Winning Wayward Woman," "A Social Diplomat," "The Senator's Daughter" and "Was It a Just Verdict?" She has received the degrees of A. M. and A. B. in recognition of her literary work and her distinguished position in patriotic, musical and art circles.

Origin of Burnt Wood as an Art.

In the object lesson in arts and crafts given at the Atlanta Womans' Club Monday afternoon the new art of "burnt wood" was shown and explained by one of the exhibitors, who gave its origin in the following little story. A rather elderly gentleman worn out in heart and spirit, and unfortunate in securing employment was sitting before a big open fireplace bemoaning to himself his fate. In his absent mindedness, he stuck the poker in the fire, watched it till the tip was red hot, and then removing it continued his musing, and etched on the wood work of the fireplace a series of conventional figures.

The next day a person entering the room unexpectedly and noting the peculiar decoration on the wood work in the mantel, asked the old man if he did that for a living. He quickly took the cue and went to work as an artist in burning or etching wood work for decorative purposes. Out of this simple beginning the popularity of the work grew, and now since machines have been made and the etching is done by means of a heated pencil, it is called the "new art" in burnt wood.

First the design is sketched on the wood, then it is etched or burnt by means of the mechanical pencil, and later artists are finishing the work by applying the richest color design. Miss W. B. Lowe, Jr., has done several artistic pieces in burnt wood, and Miss Maud Tompkins is quite an adept in the art. She has worked under an artist in Baltimore, and the speciments seen by her friends when she was home during the holidays, excited the most enthusiastic criticisms.

VICTORIA'S DEPUTIES TO WILHELMINA'S WEDDING

The greatest honor bestowed on Consuelo Vanderbilt has been the selection of this member of the millionaire American family and her titled husband to represent the House of Hanover at the wedding of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland. As the representatives of the British royal family the duke of Marlborough and Consuelo will be the greatest personages present at the wedding with the exception of the bride and groom.

Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hardin

From 4 o'clock until 6 o'clock, and from 8 o'clock until 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon and evening Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hardin received congratulations at their new house on Baltimore Block on the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage—their golden wedding.

There were no formal invitations to the wedding, but friends, old and young, old and new were invited to drop in and were met with that royal hospitality that has ever characterized the homes of the distinguished couple since long before their wedding, which took place fifty years ago in Greenville county, South Carolina. At that time the bride was the center of an old and aristocratic family circle, her father a Dr. Sullivan residing in one of the most historic colonial houses in the south.

Those who saw her yesterday and admired her lovely gentle face, her brow crowned with silver white hair, and who noted the beaming eye and soft smile, can well imagine the beauty she was when she became a bride a half a century ago.

Typifying the occasion yesterday afternoon the decorations throughout the house introduced the color of gold.

In the hallway there was an arch of smilax, showing the years 1851 and 1901 in gold. In the drawing room and dining room the decorations were of palms and ferns, and white and yellow flowers. The chandeliers and lamps had golden shades, and the dining room these aureate hues contained.

The lace cloth covering the table overlaid one of gold colored satin and gold colored ribbon drawn from the chandeliers to the center of the table, caught clusters of yellow roses.

The refreshments served were delicious and several hundred guests called.

In the receiving party with Colonel and Mrs. Hardin were their daughters and sons, and their daughters in law and sons in law Mr. and Mrs. John McCaslin, Mrs. John Houston Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hardin, Misses Virginia and Helen Hardin and Master John McCaslin, the only grandchild. Assisting in the entertainment of the guests were Mrs. Josephine Hardin Buck, Colonel Hardin's sister, and Mrs. Jane McFall, of Greenville; Mrs. Hardin's sister. Dr. Kirkpatrick, of Cartersville, and Rev. H. S. Moore, of Tennessee, who were attendants at the wedding fifty years ago, were present yesterday afternoon. Among the distinguished guests calling were Monseigneur Martinelli, Bishop Kelley, Governor Allen D. Candler, and the state house officials and their wives. Mrs. Hardin wore an elegant toilet of black peau de soie, with corsage trimmings of rare old lace.

Miss Freeman and Mr. Samuel Abbott Wedded at Cartersville Yesterday

Yesterday at noon at "Intervale," the romantic old family residence of the bride's mother, near Cartersville, Mr. Samuel Kendrick Abbott, of Atlanta, and Miss Susie Butler Freeman, of Cartersville, were united in marriage.

The wedding was one of the prettiest ever witnessed in or near Cartersville. The old fashioned, colonial home, to which so many memories attach, lent a picturesque attraction to the occasion, and with its profuse decorations of green and white made the wedding an ideal one.

The ceremony, which was very simple, was performed by Rev. W. W. Landrum, of Atlanta, assisted by Rev. E. M. Craig, of Cartersville. At the close of the ceremony an elegant breakfast was served at "Intervale" by the old family servants, and in the afternoon a delightful old country dance was inaugurated. At the close of the festivities Mr. and Mrs. Abbott left on a bridal trip to Cuba. On their return, after a stay of two weeks, the popular couple will be at home at the Aragon.

Music for the occasion was rendered by Wurm's orchestra, of Atlanta. The bridal party moved down the long, wide hall promptly at noon and stood beneath an arch of smilax and tulle, in the front parlor. Following came the two brides-maids, Miss Estelle Calhoun, of Cartersville, and Miss Lucia Abbott, of Atlanta, both carrying bouquets of white carnations. The bride entered with her maid of honor, Miss Susie Cunningham, and was joined by the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Edward Rockwell Austin.

The groomsmen, who entered the hall first, were: Mr. Arthur Keely, Mr. Shepard Bryan, Mr. Erwin C. Peeples, Mr. Howell Peeples, Mr. Linton Tedford, Mr. Earl Donaldson, of Washington, D. C.;

The striking blonde beauty of the bride was enhanced by a wedding gown of satin, trimmed in rose point lace. She carried bride roses.

A large party went up from Atlanta yesterday morning to attend the ceremony.

Social Items.

Yesterday morning at 11:30 o'clock at the Sacred Heart church occurred the marriage of Miss Mary Josephine Julian and Mr. Owen Maurice Varney, Rev. J. E. Gunn performing the impressive ceremony.

The church was elaborately decorated with palms, while white flowers adorned the altars, illumined by the soft lights of many waxen tapers. Professor J. Lewis Brown presided at the organ, and rendered artistic selections before and during the ceremony.

Mr. K. M. Turner was best man; Miss Bessie Gallaher maid of honor, and the ushers were Messrs. J. B. Ebart, John Murphy, Rhode Hill Gregory and M. Erskine. The bride's gown was an elegant creation in tan cloth with trimmings of cloth of gold and lace; her hat matched and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a becoming toilet of rose-colored cloth trimmed in black.

The bride is a bright and accomplished young woman with a host of friends, and the groom has made a large circle of friends since he made his residence here, five years ago.

The buffet luncheon at which Mrs. W. P. Pattillo entertained yesterday at 1 o'clock was a compliment to Miss Lillian Simmons and her coterie of lovely bridesmaids. The hospitable home was beautifully decorated with palms, smilax and American beauty roses, the latter flowers adorning the artistically decorated table. The menu served was delicious and the gathering was a very happy one.

Among the guests were Misses Susan Calhoun, Bessie Shaw, Stacey Barnest, Letitia Johnson, Eva St. Clare Judd, of Macon; Bessie Fitten, Nell Earnest, Annie Louise Hawkins, Margaret Badger, Alice Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pattillo, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Cowles, Mr. and Mrs. Van Valkenberg, Mrs. Virginia Simmons, Mr. Henry Herman Hirsch, Mrs. J. D. Hunt, of Jackson, Tenn.; Mr. Alfred Hirsch, of Jackson; Mrs. George Dexter, Mrs. W. R. A beautiful French card party, one of several delightful ones recently, was that given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. J. W. Childs and Miss Pittman. The decorations were in red, white and blue, the national colors of France, in the score cards for the game of hearts, in the prizes and in the refreshments, the ices being red and white on blue china. After much pleasure over the game, conversation being entirely in French, the handsome prizes were awarded; the first three, engravings of Madame Le Brun, were won by Mrs. James Carleton; the second, a mirror with fleur de lis in blue enamel, was won by Miss Connally, and the consolation, a book of French quotations, was won by Mrs. Darwin Jones.

A pretty and very enjoyable card party was that at which Miss Ruth Stephens entertained twenty people last night in honor of Miss Wright, of Minnesota, the guest of Miss Myrtice Scott. The game of six-handed euchre was played with pleasure and merriment, and the prizes awarded were Ruskin's "Crown of Wild Olive," Hawthorne's "Blackwell Romance," and for booby, a large and significant beet. Miss Stephens was a charming hostess in a becoming gown of blue silk with finish of black velvet and pink chiffon.

TROLLEY CARS COLLIDE.

Rapid Transit Car Knocked a Consolidated Car Clear Off the Track.

There was a collision between two trolley cars on Peachtree street, near Alexander, yesterday morning, on that portion of the track of the Atlanta Railway and Power company that is used also by the Atlanta Rapid Transit company.

Two trolley cars were going out Peachtree street, leaving town. Near Alexander street the consolidated car stopped to let off a passenger. The Rapid Transit company's car went ahead, struck the Consolidated car, knocked it off the track and proceeded on its way. The motorman, conductor and passengers on the Consolidated car were badly shaken up, though not hurt.

The Consolidated car was finally gotten back on the track and sent in to the shop in a badly damaged condition. The motorman of the Rapid Transit car claimed that his car was slipping on the rails and could not be stopped.

"That is a striking example of just the trouble we called the attention of the council to," said President Woodruff, of the Consolidated, last night, "when they made joint use of the same track by two separate companies possible. It has happened once and it is liable to happen again at any time, and even more serious accidents are made possible."

MEMORY OF LEE WILL BE HONORED

Interesting Exercises To Be Held at Capitol Saturday.

CROSSES WILL BE AWARDED

Messrs. Gary, Smith and Calhoun Are To Be Honored.

VIRGINIA SOCIETY TO CELEBRATE DAY

St. George Tucker Will Deliver Public Address—Boys' High School Exercises Occur Tomorrow.

The anniversary of General Robert E. Lee's birthday will be appropriately celebrated in Atlanta on Saturday.

The various camps of confederate veterans in the city will hold exercises at the state capitol, and one of the interesting features of the day's programme will be the presentation of handsome souvenirs to Judge W. T. Gary, of Richmond; Senator W. T. Smith, of Gwinnett, and Judge W. L. Calhoun, of Fulton, for their efforts in behalf of the Soldiers' Home.

The order of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will join with the veterans in making the exercises a great success from every point of view. Patriotic songs will be sung, speeches will be made, and, taken altogether, the occasion will be one of peculiar appropriateness. F. H. Richardson and Albert Cox are expected to speak and a number of bronze crosses of honor will be presented to confederate veterans.

The Virginia Society of Atlanta will banquet at the Aragon on Saturday evening and the guests of honor will be Hon. Harry St. George Tucker, the fourth president of the Washington and Lee university, of which Robert E. Lee was the first.

Early in the evening Mr. Tucker will deliver an address in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian association and later will speak at the banquet. The public speaking will begin at 8 o'clock, and the banquet will be held immediately after the exercises at the Young Men's Christian association.

The Virginia society is one of the most prosperous in the city. It now has a membership numbering 200 and the banquet this year is expected to eclipse all previous affairs given by the society. The society was organized more than twelve years ago and has always celebrated the anniversary of General Lee in an appropriate manner.

President Randolph, Toastmaster.

At the banquet Saturday evening, President Hollins N. Randolph, of the society, will be toastmaster. Appropriate toasts will be responded to by prominent guests and members of the society.

Tomorrow afternoon exercises commemorating the birth of the south's great chieftain will be held by the Alciphronian Literary and Debating society at the boy's high school.

On that occasion six members of the senior class of the school will compete for a handsome gold medal offered by the order of Robert E. Lee to the best orator. The name of the successful speaker will be announced on Saturday during the exercises at the state capitol.

For the past few years it has been the custom to offer a medal for the best address on Lee delivered by a member of the high school, but this medal did not become the property of the successful contestant. It passed to the best speaker of the succeeding years. Mrs. W. L. Peel, the president of the Order of Robert E. Lee, however, decided that this plan would be changed this year. In future the medal belongs to the speaker who wins it.

The exercises at the Boys' High school will begin at noon tomorrow and Professor William M. Slaton, the principal, has been busy during the past few weeks preparing an interesting programme. The exercises will be public and a general invitation to attend is extended by the faculty to everyone in the city. Invitations have been issued to all the patriotic organizations in Atlanta and it is expected that the exercises will be well attended.

HAS NOT COMPLIED WITH LAW

Comptroller General Would Like To Catch Agents for Old Wayne Company.

Comptroller General W. A. Wright would like to catch one or two of the agents for the Old Wayne Insurance Company and make examples of them.

He received a letter yesterday from Amanda James, of Augusta, in which she stated that she had been paying the company premiums on a policy on her husband's life, and that she had heard the company was no good. She wrote for information.

"That company, I am informed," said the comptroller general, "is known never to have paid a claim to the full amount of the policy. It invariably scales them down as much as it can, and I shall advise the woman to drop the insurance and get it in another company."

The Old Wayne Insurance Company, of Indianapolis, has never complied with the law in Georgia. It has never made the required deposit, nor taken out license. Any agent for such a company attempting to do business in the state is liable to arrest and prosecution. It seems these agents do business by using powers of attorney given by the insured to the agent to secure the insurance desired. Such agents, however, are just as amenable to the law as if they did business direct, the comptroller general says. He started to arrest a man on this charge over in Elberton some two years ago, but the party got away before he was caught. He says he would like to put a stop to this sort of business in the state.

AMUSEMENTS.

This afternoon and tonight there will be witnessed at the Grand the presentation of "A Young Wife" which had such a long run at the 14th Street theater in New York. The story is interwoven with startling situations and thrilling scenes, and naturally wound around a young woman. She marries the adopted son of a New York capitalist much against his wishes. On a particular evening in the rich man's library, he is murdered, and as he dies, he mutters that his son killed him, and the young wife not having been admitted into her father-in-law's family skeleton closet, very reasonably imagines her husband was the murderer. Tacitly she confesses the crime to save him, and from here the play taken us through many entertaining and exciting incidents in a den somewhere in the slums of the bowery in New York, and eventually winds up by the young wife discovering that the murderer of her father-in-law was not her husband, but the genuine son whom the dead man had disinherited years ago, and of whose existence she knew not. The play, of course, ends happily for all concerned, save for the father-in-law, who met his fate in the first act. The company presenting "A Young Wife" is a very capable one headed by the popular comedian, Frank Tannehill, Jr.

"The Telephone Girl," with many added features and with a cast of exceptional merit, will be the attraction of the Grand Friday and Saturday night and Saturday matinee.

The piece, a musical comedy by Messrs. Hugh Morton and Gustave Kerker, a brace of gentlemen who are responsible for the majority of the New York successes, is not unfamiliar to our theatergoers, it having been much seen here during a previous season, when it proved one of the most diverting comedies extant. This season, however, many innovations of an interesting and important character will be noticed. There is an abundance of specialties, and, as before, an exceedingly beautiful feminine chorus. Among the members of the organization are Harry Hermsen, Mabel Hite, the clever soubrette, Douglas & Ford, the dancing wonders, Bessie Gilbert, Flora Parker, the dainty comedienne, Frank Kelly, Chas. Burrows, Louise Lewis, John J Magee, Bert DeRuelle, Inez Dale, Nelda Herrman, Jean Bernard and Edith Gibbons.

"A Hot Old Time" reached Atlanta several hours late yesterday afternoon from Chattanooga and caused a decided rise in temperature around the box office when it was found that the matinee, which had been advertised, would not be presented.

It is a pity, if the play had to be given in Atlanta at all, that it was not performed at the Columbia so as to leave the Grand open for some atraction of a higher class. There is nothing in the play itself to merit approval; the lines are ordinary and frequently dull, while the action, though lively and continued, is of the horse play variety that grates on the sensitive nerves of an artistic audience.

The plot of the play is the thinnest gossamer texture, a fabric easily torn to pieces to make way for the welcome interruption of the specialties. The story is woven around "Lary Moony," who appears in the most outrageously grotesque costume that was ever effected by a comedian. He has a mouth like a sunken valley and his voice is a weird cross between the dismal croaking of a frog and the honk of wild geese. In spite of all he is clever and for a time almost makes you forget the hackneyed lines and the author's paucity of ideas. He would make a bright addition to the specialty department of a first class minstrel.

The work of Hayes and Healy in the third act is good. Healy is particularly bright and makes the most of his physical deformity. William and Richard Bright in an athletic exhibition were excellent and well deserved the applause thy recivd.

Opposition at other play houses and the weather yesterday had no effect on the attendance at the popular place of amusement—the Lyceum Family Theater, where there is being presented an excellent programme of the best polite vaudeville acts at popular prices. The audiences are quite representative—the professional and business man, the book-keeper, clerk, and workingman with sweetheart, wife, mother, or sisters, dressing the orchestra floor, and balcony, while in the gallery, the critics enjoy the offering. The matinee yesterday showed a gain in the attendance over Tuesday, even though it was raining, and last night the audience was larger than has been since the Lyceum was re-opened under its present system, that with Manager Wells' experience and ability, is fast pulling the pretty play house out of the back rank, and advancing it forward. The bill is every thing that was promised for it. It is highly entertaining, and worth seeing. The acrobatic novelty act of the Kudra family, Japanese athletes, are sensational in their work. One of the most acceptable acts of the offering is that of Samuel Bennett and Charlie Young, the illustrated singers.

The bill will be seen at matinee and night every day the balance of the week. Tickets may be engaged by telephone, and held at the box office until called for, thus avoiding the trouble of going to the theater to get seats. Mme Adelaide Herrmann, widow of Herrmann the Great, and now known as the "Queen of Magic," will be the feature of the programme next week, of all new acts. The beautiful woman, is one of the most graceful women on the stage and her costumes are wonderful creations. Seats for next week can be engaged now.

The Aubrey Stock Company presented the best bill of the week last night in the military drama, "We 'Uns of Tennessee." The play is full of dramatic situations and stirring speeches, and altogether a very interesting plot. The Aubrey company gave a spendid performance of it, adding no little to the good impression made earlier in the week. Miss Lillian Bayer, Miss Helen Irwin and Miss Bowers filled the leading feminine roles excellently. Walter Stanhope, Anthony Andre, Victor Morley and A. J. Edwards deserve special mention for their conscientious and capable work. The play was elaborately staged, the company's special scenery being used for each act. "We 'Uns of Tennessee" is one of the best plays seen at the Columbia this season.

Tonight "The Prince of Russia" will be put on.

"The Evil Eye; or the Many Merry Mishaps of Nid and the Weird Wonderful Wanderings of Nod," that wildly extravagant and spectacular drama which won favor in this city last season, will appear at the Grand Monday, matinee and night. The amusing features of this entertainment is the trick scenic effcts and the eccentricities of Nid and Nod, two nimble clowns, who utter not a word during the whole performance, and Pelig Kalsenheimer, an adventurous German-American, added to the humor produced by these fixtures; then there are a score of novelties especially engaged for this organization.

Alice Neilsen spells her name N-i-e-l-s-e-n. Everybody seems to think they know how to spell it better than she does. The newspapers and the programme printers get it Neilsen, Neilson, Neelson, Nillson, but it remained for an aisprant for a chorus position in Miss Neilsen's company the other day to cap the climax by addressing her as "Miss Kneelsing."

BANKS WILL BE CHOSEN TODAY

Finance Committee Will Meet in the Afternoon.

OLD BIDS WERE CALLED OFF

Lowry Bank Protested at Manner of Choosing Depositories.

ALL BIDS WILL BE INDEPENDENT

Four Depositories Will Doubtless Be Selected Without Further Delay at This Afternoon's Meeting.

The finance committee of the city council will decide today at noon what four local banks shall be designated as city depositories for the coming year.

Under the city law not more than four banks can handle the city's deposits. Last week when the bids were submitted, the Lowry National bank, the Fourth National bank, the Capital City and the Maddox-Rucker banks offered a joint bid at 2 per cent.

The Third National bank offered a separate bid at the same rate, but, through inadvertance, it was not submitted to Chairman Rawson, of the finance committee, who notified the officers of that bank of the mistake, and told them he would submit it to the finance committee at its next meeting.

This meeting took place last Monday. The matter was laid before the meeting, and, as there were five bidders, it was agreed that the names of the five banks should be put in a hat. The first four drawn should be given the city deposits.

This was done, and the name of the Lowry bank was left in the hat, the award going to the other four. The Lowry bank protested, and the committee has agreed to call off all bids and to ask for new ones to be submitted today. The committee further agreed that the banks should bid independently, and not in cooperation.

The entire matter will doubtless be settled this afternoon, after the finance committee has considered the independent bids that are to be submitted.

GOLD IN M'DUFFIE COUNTY.

Professor Yeates Says the Mines There Promise a Profitable Yield.

State Geologist W. I. Yeates was in his office at the capitol yesterday, after a week's visit to McDuffie county, where he has been at work upon the gold mines of that section. The mines of which he has been making a study are the Columbia, the Smith, formerly known as the Walker mine; the Hamilton, the Tatham and the Porter mine, operated by the National Mining Company.

Specimens of gold ore from these mines selected by Professor Yeates will arrive today, and he will assay them. Some of these mines run rich in gold. The Columbia mine is among those worked before the war, and it is claimed that $1,000,000 has been taken out of it.

"To all appearances," Professor Yeates said, "there is some magnificent gold ore over there, and the indications are that these mines will pay handsomely. I have spent a week in working on them, and as soon as I get through with some work I had to do here I am going back to McDuffie county to take up the work again. In fact, I expect to spend all of my time for some weeks to come on the McDuffie gold mines and the preparation of Georgia's exhibit for the Buffalo exposition."

Professor Yeates is quite enthusiastic over the prospects in McDuffie county, so far as he has gone, and he thinks it possible that some large fortunes in gold will be taken out of the mines there.

ONLY 2 WAYS
THE TWO WAYS!
IN printing as in everything else there are, broadly speaking, only two ways—the right way and the wrong way. The latter way is the one adopted by the man who never succeeds in doing anything but cutting down expenses, and involves the use of printed matter in small quantities and of an inferior quality that can be had for almost nothing and is worth less. The other way is that pursued by men whose judicious use of printer's ink has laid the foundation of large fortunes, and it costs more, but it attracts desirable attention and compels trade to the profits of which the extra expense is but "a drop in the bucket."
